

Smith Replies To Critics Of New Zoning Law

Romulus - Roderick E. Smith, Romulus Township Supervisor and candidate for mayor in the City Charter Election scheduled for May 7 issued a reply to the Referendum Vote on Romulus' recently approved new Zoning Ordinance. The referendum election is scheduled along with the Aug. 4 primary election.

This reply follows: In view of the fact that a referendum has been set for August in the matter of the new Zoning Ordinance, I feel that all of the pertinent factors which have caused controversy or misunderstanding should be discussed.

To start at the beginning, the Township Board authorized the firm of Parkins and Rogers, Inc. to prepare a new Zoning Ordinance for the Township of Romulus, in order that the old ordinance be brought up to date. The old ordinance was antiquated and had been amended so many times that it was almost impossible to interpret the amended sections.

In addition, a great amount of property had been purchased for expansion of the airport, necessitating reconsideration of the land use and changes of zoning due to the expanded perimeters of the airport and its influence on much of the land in the Township.

The new proposed Zoning Ordinance was given to the Planning Commission by the planning firm and was studied in depth by the Commission for approximately seven months.

During the study, consideration was given to the over-all plan, as well as to specific instances where zoning changes were requested.

All of the Commission

Meetings at which consideration of the proposed ordinance was the subject matter, were public meetings and were advertised as such so that the public would have the opportunity to make suggestions which would be considered.

Finally, a Public Hearing was scheduled, advertised and held, all as specified under the statutes. At the Public Hearing of the Planning Commission, many people were heard and their requests were recorded, considered and, for the most part, incorporated into the final draft of the ordinance as presented to the Township Board.

During the several weeks that elapsed between the Commission's Public Hearing and the Township Board Meeting at which the ordinance was adopted, many written requests for further consideration of zoning changes were received, studied and, in most cases, included in the adopted ordinance.

Both the Planning Commission and the Township Board felt that after almost eight months of diligent, time consuming study, and proper consideration of the hundreds of requests, sufficient time had been allowed for everyone to have their views considered.

In fact, the final draft of the ordinance was approved unanimously by the nine man Planning Commission and by all Board Members except one Trustee. This means that of sixteen people who are knowledgeable and responsible in such matters, fifteen of them concurred and one dissented.

Romulus Proposed City Charter Gaining Favor

ON HAND for the start of what will be Romulus' largest industrial park to date are (from left): Joseph Wallace, Romulus treasurer; Carlo J. Catenacci, president of the Prescott Excavating Co. of Warren; Romulus Township Supervisor Roderick Smith; Peter Konen, of Wade, Trim & Associates, Inc., township engineers; and Roland J. Gadwa, vice president - Land Development, Thompson-Brown Company. The pre-construction meeting at the 75-site bounded by Ecorse, Middlebelt and Beverly Rds., marked the beginning of work on water and sewer lines and storm drains. The site is being developed by the Thompson-Brown Co., developer-builder-real estate firm, in conjunction with the State Mutual Life Assurance Company of America, headquartered in Worcester, Mass.

Rogalle Reports Support Growing

ROMULUS-It's still another 10 days or so to actual balloting, but if Romulus' May 7 special city election were being held this week it probably would pass by a "substantial" margin.

At least that's the opinion of Felix F. (Mickey) Rogalle, Romulus Charter Commission Chairman who has been closely watching and evaluating chances of the proposed Charter's acceptance by voters.

"We'll never know for sure until the votes are actually counted, but all the indications we can come by are that support of the Charter is gaining considerable momentum each day - and we expect it to gain even more in the final few days," Rogalle said Monday.

Why? "The biggest thing I can really put a finger on is that copies of the Charter have finally become available to residents and they are looking it over for themselves," he said, adding:

"We've found considerably more support for City in the last couple weeks in our surveys than earlier. In fact, we've noticed substantial new support for Charter just in the last week alone since its publication in last week's paper (Romulus Roman).

"Another fairly valid test was by a group supporting Charter which called literally hundreds of residents by phone this week and polled them for their feelings on Charter and asked if their names could be used in a paid advertisement.

"The inquiry got nearly unanimous response in favor of Charter with over 560 agreeing to have their names printed publicly favoring cityhood. Dozens of others said on the phone they would be voting for City, but didn't want their names used."

Rogalle said the question of whether the Charter will win approval appears to be involving considerably more interest even than candidate races for various offices.

"I guess that is to be expected," he said. "There are 43 candidates...but only one city question - and if something should happen that Charter is not approved, none of the 'elected' candidates would have an office to go to."

Rogalle said other indications of Charter acceptance by voters is reflected in the long string of public endorsements being given to the Charter by public officials, civic organizations and even partisan parties - plus the overwhelming number of signs appearing in windows and on lawns supporting cityhood - and none against!

"I think it has been a valid campaign, too," Rogalle said. "Voters aren't getting just one side of the story. As most people know, there have been panels and debates going on in the schools and subdivisions almost nightly for the past couple of weeks."

"I've had the pleasure of appearing in several of them to speak for incorporation. Another Charter Commission member (former Supervisor

PUBLIC HEARING - The Romulus Urban Renewal Office sponsored a public hearing on the first phase of the Wayne-Beverly Renewal Area April 23. Romulus Supervisor Roderick E. Smith, George Wilhelm, UR director, and other township officials detailed the renewal plan. Above is a portion of area residents who attended. The Citizens District Council voted approval of the plan after the presentations.

Under New Ordinance

Court Halts Permits

ROMULUS - Wayne County Circuit Court Judge John M. Wise has issued an injunction, April 24, prohibiting Romulus Township Building Department from issuing any building permits under the recently approved new Zoning Ordinance.

Township residents who have objected to multiple zoning classification given in the new ordinance to an area, located in the vicinity of their homes, have filed petitions seeking a referendum vote on the new zoning law.

A Referendum Election has been set to coincide with the August, 1970 Primary Election by the Romulus Township Board.

Mrs. Florence Allen leader of a citizens group protesting the new Zoning Ordinance, filed the petition and reported that the petitions contained 1,600 signatures.

She reported that the township board accepted the petitions and set the election but the board has refused to halt the issuing of building permits.

She alleged that for the township to continue to issue permits under the new Zoning regulations would make Mockery of the referendum election.

Ernest Ryback, attorney and a Van Buren Township resident, initiated court proceedings, without expense to petitioners for a writ of mandamus directing the township to stop issuing building permits. Township Attorney was John E. Young.

Until the election, provisions of the old zoning ordinance will prevail until the election determines the fate of the Master Ordinance.

Roderick E. Smith, township supervisor, reported that under the old zoning ordinance, multiple family dwellings is still permitted in the area (Van Born and Middlebelt Rds.) where residents are complaining about.

The new zoning had changed the location and reduced the number of multiple units permitted in the new zoned area.

Made by Students

School Gets Arts Pieces

ROMULUS - Preparations for installation of several art pieces in the Cory Elementary School courtyard began on Saturday morning, April 25.

Parents, Principal, Teacher and some kids got together with a cement mixer and some elbow grease to set forms and pour concrete.

James Madigan, school principal; Cheryl Huff, art teacher; Fran and Jim Petre, LeRoy Sims and Ed Gavin, parents; arrived at 9 a.m. to begin work on bases for the sculptured figures being made by the students.

A base was poured for the large figure of a porpoise that had been delivered along with two memorial benches on Friday. The benches were purchased from the Andrew Thomas memorial fund.

After a morning of hard work, Mrs. Petre prepared lunch for the laborers and the seven or eight youngsters who had arrived to work on art projects. Everyone went out to the courtyard to eat their lunch, and observe their handwork.

All items had been arranged for or sponsored by the PTA under the leadership of Mrs. Petre, president.

Homeowners Set Candidate Night

ROMULUS - Where Will You Be At Friday, May 1? Hopeful all registered voters and interested residents of Romulus will be in the Junior High School Gymnasium for candidates Night for 43."

Many have asked why a Friday night, "we usually go shopping"; "we usually have social engagements" and etc.?

To the shoppers, the bargain seekers, we offer a chance to shop for the future of your community under one roof. To those who like to participate in social engagements, what better way to get to know your neighbors and broaden your acquaintanceships? The Romulus Homeowners Association request the honour of your presence at "Candidates Night for 43" 7 p.m. - Friday - May 1 at Romulus Junior High School Gymnasium, 11401 Olive St.

Top Dem Officials Endorse Charter

ROMULUS-Add three more "big ones" in support of Romulus' City incorporation!

They are State Rep. Edward Mahalak, State Sen. William Faust and County Commissioner Edmund Bizak.

All three came out this week with public statements in favor of cityhood for Romulus Township and urging approval of the proposed City Charter at the special election May 7.

Said Mahalak:

"I definitely am in favor of Romulus becoming a city - and at this time.

"As a resident as well as a representative, I am acutely aware of the dangers of annexation of a part or parts of Romulus' industrial wealth by neighboring communities. Such eventualities most certainly would represent not only loss of vast tax dollars to Romulus, but also added taxes locally to make up for whatever revenue might be lost.

"I have analyzed the Charter and think that it might possibly have disadvantages to what I would like. But it can be amended as we go just as the State's Constitution can and has been amended. I think people have voted on six State amendments already. So amending later is no problem.

"I think Romulus needs city government now because it offers better control of its destinies than does a township, a destiny that will be and is in great part being, influenced and affected by decisions needed now.

"I don't like the State's Township statutes at all. We have all known there would be a point in history when Romulus should become a city. It was predicted as early

UR Aide Asked To Resign By Township Board

ROMULUS - Leonard J. Folmar, 28, an administration aide in the Romulus Urban Renewal Department, has been asked to resign his position by the Romulus Township Board of Trustees.

A communication requesting Folmar, who resides at 35870 Cypress, to resign was issued by Alfred J. Perry, township clerk.

The communication cited Folmar's candidacy in the City Charter Election, scheduled for May 7, was a violation of provisions of an existing contract between the union and township.

Article 10, Section G of the contract calls for the resignation of township employees who announce their candidacy in township elections.

At the April 21 Township Board meeting, a motion made by Trustee James C. Stewart and supported by Perry to place Folmar on a five-day suspension to be followed by discharge as per the union contract was unanimously approved.

Folmar is seeking election to city clerk in the Charter Election. He announced his candidacy along with nine other office seekers comprising a candidate slate backed by the "I-Q" Citizens Group (Integrity and Quality in Romulus Government).

Although Folmar is seeking election in a non-partisan city election,

John E. Young, township attorney, informed the township board, prior to its ruling, that it made no difference if the election was township or city.

The vote by the board was six to one, (Trustee Jimmie Raspberry was on an out of state assignment and was not present for the vote.) Trustee Joseph Wallis voted against the ruling.

Supervisor Roderick E. Smith said that the board's action was based on legal interpretation that Folmar's candidacy was in violation of the union contract. It provides for a five-day suspension followed by discharge if the employee continues his candidacy.

Stewart And Bath Injured In Crash

ROMULUS - Two city council candidates in the City Incorporation Election scheduled in Romulus on May 7 have been injured in a two-truck accident last Thursday.

The candidates, who will not be able to actively campaign for their election are James C. Stewart, 44, of 7146 Harrison, Inkster; and Jack Bath, 31, of 32115 Bruce, Wayne.

Both were taken to the Wayne County General Hospital. Stewart, who is presently a Romulus trustee, was treated for cuts, bruises three broken right ribs and badly injured right foot. Bath, who is still in the hospital at edition time receive multiple cuts, bruises and severe head injuries.

Wayne County Sheriff's Road Patrol officers issued no tickets pending further investigation.

They reported that Stewart and his passenger, Bath, were travelling west on Eureka Rd., when Stewart approached Colbert to make a right into Emerald Green (Continued on Page 3)

Judge Advises Parents On Drug Problems

(Editor's Note: The following submitted by District Judge James B. Stone of the 34th District Court (Romulus) is the eighth and final of a series of articles on the problems of narcotics which has been in the forefront of current news report.)

In this, the final article in this series on Narcotics and Drug abuse, I would like to bring this subject to a more personal and a more meaningful focus.

I would like to assure any parent who says to himself, "It can't happen to my youngster," that it can happen.

The United States today is the biggest market for illicit narcotic and drug traffic in the Western world. Each year thousands of teenagers, good boys and girls, not just those already "in trouble" with the law are threatened by innocent association with narcotics users and "pushers."

The statistics available at the present time indicate that less than four percent of the known addicts are under 18, however, most of the known addicts are under 30 and began the drug habit as adolescents. Many could have been saved from addiction if the problem had been recognized and treated in time.

If you have a mental picture of a person who is addicted to narcotics or drugs being an "all shook up juvenile delinquent," you are in for a big surprise.

In two separate studies of male teen-age addicts, 78 percent of all teen addicts are male...it was found that they were quiet, likeable, conservative, well-mannered, easily influenced and quick to want to please. They had few if any close friendships. Their interests were more feminine than masculine. They were soft-spoken and tended to "sweet talk" their way through life.

Once adolescents are drawn into narcotic bondage; they tend to withdraw from society. Grades drop. They become restless, moody, secretive and lose any ambition they might have possessed.

If they are addicted to heroin, they lose interest in the opposite sex. (Marijuana may increase sexual interest). Fading into a fantasy world created by hypodermic injections, they want only to spend their time in dimly lit rooms, listening to mood music, dreaming dreams of being big and powerful enough to lick the world.

As I have pointed out in previous articles, the symptoms of abstinence from drugs are very similar to the symptoms of the common cold. After eight to 10 hours without drugs, signs of nervousness appear. There is much yawning, the eyes water and sneezing begins. The nose runs and sweating is not uncommon.

Loss of appetite, vomiting, diarrhea, hot and cold flashes, abdominal cramps and a rise in temperature are also present and usually in that order.

Another indication of possible trouble with drugs or the inability to obtain them is the craving for sweets. In withdrawal, the appetite that has been lost begins to return and the need for nourishment exhibits itself in the desire for candy bars and soda pop. The victim might consume large quantities of both in a relatively short time. Almost in a panic as a rule.

The observant parent might come in contact with suspicious articles around the house that should alert him to a dangerous possibility.

These might be: spoons or bottle caps blackened by a flame, unexplainable wads of used cotton secreted around the room, medicine droppers hidden in drawers or elsewhere, unidentifiable capsules or pills found hidden around the premises.

If you should happen upon pills, capsules or powders and you can't identify them contact your doctor or clergyman and ask to have them analyzed. It is important to know the kind of drug or narcotic being taken.

Should they prove to be narcotic or drug samples, any one of several organizations are ready and able to assist you and the victim in getting rid of this problem.

The Detroit Free Press recently ran a series on drug addiction problems. In the last of that series, Eileen Foley, the author, listed the names and addresses of the centers in the Metropolitan Detroit area that were available to assist drug addicts and their families.

Listed below are those centers: Boniface Community Action Center, 2116 Michigan Ave., Detroit, (962-3366 or 962-6225).

Christian Service Commission, St. Matthew Church, 6021 Whittier, Detroit 48228.

Drug Counseling and Information Center (642-2670).

Family Life Education Council (FLEC) 17150 Waterloo, Grosse Pointe.

Narcotic Addiction Rehabilitation Coordinating Organization (NARCO), 18444 West Ten Mile Rd., Southfield, Mich., 48075.

Open City, 4425 Second, Detroit (831-2770).

Redford Information and Counseling Center on Drugs (RICCOC), (535-7077).

Self-Help Addiction Rehabilitation Inc. (SHAR, Inc.), (895-3400 or 963-7173).

Synanon, 18940 Schaefer Rd., at 7 Mile Road, (341-2944), Teen Challenge, 4600 Lovett, Detroit, Mich. (897-2619).

In addition, the best weapon against the menace of drugs and narcotics is knowledge. I strongly suggest that you give your full support to the program recently announced by the local Kiwanis Club.

In conclusion I would like to state that I am not, nor is any member of my staff, an expert on the drug problem.

The little information I have is the result of an intense interest in prevention. That interest has caused me to do as much research as I possibly could accomplish on limited time and resource material.

I have most humbly shared with you the sparse knowledge I have been able to acquire in the sincere hope that our community would at least be aware of the problem. Through that awareness, perhaps one life might be spared the agony and despair that always is present in drug addiction.

'Cityhood Makes Sense'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following submitted by Felix F. Rogalle, chairman of Romulus Charter Commission, is the fourth and final of a series of articles on the proposed City Charter up for voter decision in a special election scheduled May 7.)

By FELIX F. ROGALLE
Chairman, Charter Commission

Have you heard this one:
"It's a good City Charter, but:

"It's full of loop holes...
"It has disadvantages..."

"Changing later is expensive...petitions would have to be circulated and signed by at least six percent of the registered voters and a special election would be held..."

"I have read the proposed charter and did obtain a copy of same by a method which I cannot reveal..."

"I'm in favor of city, too, under the proper charter..."

"Etc., etc., etc..."

THESE ARE typical of some of the comments being made in public appearances and in print by various candidates for office under Romulus' proposed Charter...by opponents of the Charter...and even by supporters of the Charter.

Bless 'em all!

They're expressing opinions...and I have some, too:

1) The Charter was put together by nine (9) Commissioners elected at large over all of Romulus. It was a non-partisan election.

Presumably, that was to assure that the Charter Commission would be non-partisan (which it was) - and that a cross section of individuals would be elected and participate (which did happen). Further, it is presumed that if the intention had not been to get nine opinions - with action by a majority - there would have been only ONE Charter Commissioner to do the job.

2) With nine Commissioners participating, it is doubtful that anyone of them would call the end product perfect. Obviously, not one of the nine would agree on everything put in it. It was not a matter of right and wrong...rather of preference of what would be best for Romulus.

However, everything that is in the Charter was approved by a MAJORITY of the Charter Commissioners or it wouldn't be in there.

3) The same debates and discussions which are now being made about the Charter (bless'em!) were made by Charter Commissioners enroute to arriving at the particular decision which was finally made.

This type of debate and discussion is to be encouraged. Interest in the Charter should (at some future date after its initial passage) establish direction for possible amendments.

4) Statements that the Charter was rather late being made available are true - mostly because of the thorough analysis it received at State level, followed by time needed for certain revisions and then printing.

Any inferences that ANY copies were not available, or had to come from clandestine sources, is intentionally misleading. We suggest source and motive be considered.

5) Changes in Charter being "expensive" and "special election" are only PART of the Charter.

It definitely is possible to change Charter with special election - that was one of the things we made possible in it!

However, there are other ways to change Charter without expensive special election - including having possible revisions put on either by Council or public referendum at REGULAR elections.

THE SUBJECT and availability of referendum (forcing of public vote by petition) in the Romulus Charter is one of its most unique and, we think, attractive features in comparison to Charters of neighboring communities.

As a quick glance at the full, official Charter...published last week in Romulus Roman and also available at several public sources...indicates, the methods and manners by which the public may force a public vote on ANY ordinances of Council (including pay policies) are clearly spelled out.

Further, the number of names on petitions are spelled out...and additional means and methods of conducting the referendum MUST be published along with the ordinance or policy in question.

It is ironic, I think, that my opposite number at some recent panels and debate on Charter (former Supervisor Terry Troutt) has attacked this aspect of the Charter...yet recently participated in a referendum attempt concerning proposed zoning changes in the Township and, with 1600 signatures, still is not certain whether that will do the trick. (Please forgive the plug, Terry!)

Although we (all of us) may sometimes say things in the interest of argumentation and campaign, it is my strong desire that all residents of Romulus will, personally, take the time to acquire a copy of the Charter and study it for themselves.

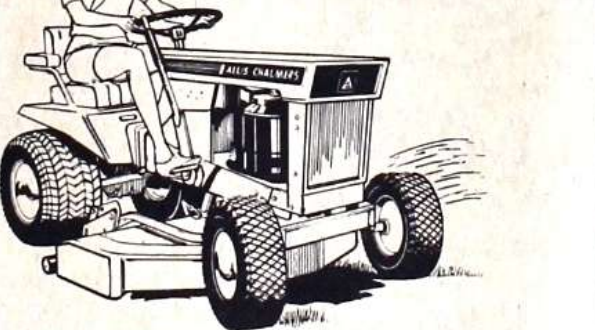

Although lengthy, the Charter is relatively brief on specific items...designed that way to give broadest possible flexibility to governing personnel while retaining broadest permissible controls in hands of the people.

It's my opinion that it's a very good, practical, workable Charter for Romulus' current and future needs.

If you'd like to debate that, look up the schedule and come around to the schools and subdivisions where panels and debates are being held almost nightly through election time.

But I warn you...I've been getting lots of practice!

CHARTER APPROVAL URGED-Charter Commission Chairman Felix F. Rogalle, attorney, was one of the principal speakers at a recent Charter and Candidate Night held under the sponsorship of the "I-Q" citizen group. Rogalle detailed provisions of the proposed City Charter and urged approval by the electorate in the May 7 Election.

as 1954 -- and I think the time is now.

"I most certainly urge all eligible voters to help passage of the City Charter in the May 7 election!"

Said Bizek:

"I certainly endorse and support incorporation of Romulus as a city May 7.

"I feel this is a move that should be taken for the benefit of the entire community.

"As Romulus Supervisor at the time, I first felt the need for looking into possible change four years ago and initiated the first petitions at that time.

"I supported it again as Supervisor two years ago - and my feelings have not changed.

"Incorporation offers Romulus its best chance for proper growth and proper distribution of tax wealth to all Romulus citizens."

Said Faust:

"I wish to take this opportunity to publicly commend the citizens of Romulus on their proposed city and publicly urge their support of that City Charter at the polls on May 7.

"As a former Supervisor of Nankin Township at the time its incorporation petitions were filed, and a tremendous effort put forth for cityhood to prevent annexation of a valuable part of that community's tax base be another city, I can speak personally for the sincere concern elected officials face in working to obtain a solid petition forms were prepared and circulated, asking that the new Zoning Ordinance be placed on a ballot at an election so that the people of the Township could vote on the ordinance. I am certain that no one on the Township Board has objected to such procedure as is dictated by State Statute. In fact, the referendum date has been set.

However, as a result of hundreds of people who signed the petitions for referendum, stating the things they were told by the petition circulators, the record must be set straight, if what was purported to have been stated by the circulators, was in fact stated, then it must be said that only half-truths and outright false statements were made, just to get people to sign the petitions.

The biggest objection to the Zoning Ordinance, as expressed by the people who signed petitions, was a notion that the ordinance, because of the provisions relating to mobile homes, would create problems for the Township and the schools by overcrowding the Township with mobile homes.

Additionally, people were told that in mobile home courts, the average number of student children was 1.9 per mobile home.

Let's get the fact straight. Under the previous Zoning Ordinance, 20 acres in the north-east section of the Township (in the Hayti School area) and 60 acres in the other area of the Township, were zoned for mobile homes. The number of mobile homes per acre allowed under the old ordinance was 12 per acre. This means that 240 mobile homes could have been located in the Hayti School area, with an additional 720 mobile homes allowable in other areas.

"It is my sincere hope that the Romulus citizenry will recognize - and reach - that promise!"

Under the new Ordinance, only 28 acres have been zoned for additional mobile homes, at an maximum load of 7 mobile homes per acre, or 196 mobile homes (all in the Hayti School area).

These figures are factual and, I believe, should dispel all of the fears that have been created by the reported false statements. The real truth of this matter is that instead of the possibility of 960 mobile homes under the old ordinance, only 196 will be possible under the new ordinance.

And in a 1969 survey made by the Macomb County Planning Commission, there was only one student child for every 4 mobile home, not 8, as indicated by the "scare" tactics.

Let's consider taxes as they relate to the student load, comparing normal residential home development at four homes per acre with mobile homes at seven per acre. While it is true that more money per acres is collected from residential home developments than from mobile home development, we must also consider in the total picture, what is the school student cost per acre.

The school tax revenue in Romulus from 10 acres of residential home area (at 4 homes per acre), using the average, is $260. per home, or a total of $10,400 for 10 acres with 1.9 school children per home, the average school tax revenue per student is $136.80.

The school tax revenue, using both millage and vehicle tax, from 10 acres of mobile home area (at 7 units per acre), using the average, is $239.40 per unit, or a total of $9,576 for 10 acres, with .33 school children per mobile homes. (there are 89 school children in 249 mobile homes in Romulus) the average school tax revenue per student is $416.35.

Both of these examples are based on the use of the new Zoning Ordinance. Figures from the preceding were taken from actual school and tax records in Romulus.

Similarly, in the City of Warren, which recently experienced the kind of development which we in Romulus will have in the near future, the average number of school children per multiple or apartment unit is .23 and the average assessed valuation per unit is $6,500; apartments in Warren pay an average school tax of $1,588 per school child.

While figures for Romulus are not available at this time, the figures for Warren are taken from the records of the Macomb County Planning commission report of 1969 and are official.

When the petitions were circulated, people were also told that, under the new Zoning Ordinance, mobile home courts would be built in their areas, in all sections of town. This is completely false, because the only area so zoned was in the Van Born Road - Middlebelt Road.

I hope the facts contained here will help to show many false statements and innuendoes were made just to get signatures on petitions.

If you have further questions, please call the Township Building Department for information.

Subdivision, a collision between a car driven by George Alston Ridley, 36, of 13680 Superior, Southgate, who was traveling east on Eureka Rd., occurred.

Ridley was also injured and treated.

Since Stewart and Bath will not be able to campaign any more before election day, they ask their supporters to finish the job of electioneering for them by placing the election posters at proposed locations and to work the precincts on election day by passing out their campaign cards.

Charter Is Gaining

Terry Troutt) has taken the negative. We've presented almost every possible aspect of the Charter. And I'm happy to note that even my opponent in these debates (Mr. Troutt) has spoken in favor of Cityhood although he feels the Charter should have changes made in it now.

"We went through most of the same debates within the Charter Commission and the items which are included are there because two-thirds of the Charter Commission members voted they should be. And, of course, we put provisions into the Charter not only to amend it whenever the people want change, but also to order referendums on any ordinance or statute the elected officials might want to make - including pay policies!"

Concerning support of Charter by candidates, Rogalle said:

"We've watched that fairly closely, of course. And as far as we can tell the vast percentage of candidates are not only publicly urging approval of Charter, but openly campaigning for it.

"A handful of others have taken what might be called a 'hands off' approach... saying they'll leave that up to the voters. There might even be some who are openly against the Charter, but I can't really see the logic of anybody voting for a candidate who doesn't even support the type of government he's running for office in.

"I'd say the major candidates are practically unanimously in favor of cityhood!"

All of what is now OKLAHOMA except the "panhandle" came under U.S. sovereignty via the Louisiana Purchase.

SNYR, Chester J., 44, of 10249 Ozga Rd., a Romulus resident since birth. He and his wife, Dorothy, are parents of seven children.

They are: Army Private Chester J. Snyr, Jr., 20, in Vietnam; Constance, 18, Central Michigan University student; Cynthia, 15; Carol, 12; Christine, 9; Cheryl, 6; and John, 4½.

He attended Belleville High School and holds a certificate from Dearborn School System on General Educational Development. He is a hydraulic components technician at Kelsey-Hayes Company.

He is a former candidate for township trustee (1963) and is a member of Romulus VFW, Post 9568, Belleville Moose and Belleville PLAV Post 167.

Snyr served in the U.S. Air Force (1943-45) and held the rank of sergeant.

On his seeking office, Snyr stated that he wants to take part in and help steer the council to money-saving business like administration.

To help about any actions that would be detrimental to the city or its citizens and taxpayers and their dollars. To help to hold a tight rein over the main issue (the dollar).

On qualifications, he stated of having been a businessman and contractor for several years and of having vast knowledge of fair prices on mechanical, material, labor and general items. "It seems that we should have at least one council member who is so schooled," he said.

On the main issue of the election, Snyr stated that it was "The Dollar" and added poetically, "The dollar, the issue. My Promise, No Mis-use."

WILLIAMS, Frederick A., 35, a Romulus resident for 35 years. He resides at 30708 Beverly Rd., with his wife, Linda, and two children: Joseph and Elizabeth.

He attended Romulus Senior High School, Henry Ford Community College and Ferris State University. He graduated from college in 1959.

Williams is employed by the Ford Motor Company. And is a member of the Knights of Columbus, Dearborn Cooperative, Labor Union, Local 600. He is an executive board member of Dearborn Cooperative. He served in the Army in 1959.

On seeking the office of councilman, Williams stated:

"I think Romulus needs a harmonious city government, working for the interests of all of our citizens and because of the laxity of enforcement of building codes and zoning laws."

On major issues, he stated that Romulus should become a city in order to maintain its present boundaries that it may grow and prosper.

BATH, Jack A., 31, of 32115 Bruce, Wayne. He has been in the community for five years and is employed as a warehouse manager at Jacobson, Dearborn.

He and wife, Anna, are parents of three children: Deborah, 9; Jacqueline, 7; Carl, 3. He is a graduate of Fordson High School, Dearborn.

He said that as a member of the Board of Appeals and actively attending township meetings and being well informed on the future and present development at Romulus makes him qualified to run for office.

MANN, Dave, 37, of 7290 Kempa, Inkster, a resident of the community since 1951. He and his wife, Judy, are parents of four children, who answered to the names of Michael, 17; Lois, 15; Timothy, 11; and Sherry, 7.

Kelsey-Hayes Company, Romulus, and chairman of the bargaining committee, Local 78 and a vice president.

He is a former candidate for Romulus Supervisor (1959) State Representative (1966) on Democratic Party ticket.

In seeking election and why, Mann said, "In the event City Status is achieved, it is important that a smooth transition of government be assured. Equally important, I am concerned about fiscal responsibility and the need to continue every effort to broaden the industrial tax base of Romulus to ease the tax load on the property and homeowner."

On qualification he stated, "I have college training in business administration and feel running a city government is much like running a business. It should be done in a responsible manner, giving full service to the citizens and the taxpayers in the most efficient way possible, with the most minimum tax burden possible."

On major issues he stated that it was the need to provide government in the most fiscal responsible manner possible without undue hardship on the taxpayer.

LOPOTA, Andrew, 43, of 6711 Merriman Rd., Inkster. He has been a Romulus resident for nine years and currently is a survey crew chief and inspector on various phases of road and runway construction for the Wayne County Road Commission. He attended High School at Monaca, Pa., and Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Wayne State University.

He and wife, Mickie, are parents of three children Candice, 17; Andrew, 14; and Kevin, 13.

He is a former candidate for Romulus School Board (1968) and has been active in Romulus Homeowners Association, Kiwanis Club of Romulus, St. Aloysius Church of Romulus, Gregorian Club, St. Aloysius Parish, and Romulus Federal Credit Union.

He is membership chairman of the Homeowners Association, Kiwanis Club secretary, and treasurer of the credit union.

He served in World War II, Corps of Engineers and was a First Lieutenant in the Korean War.

In seeking the office of councilman, Lopota said, "I feel that it is my civic duty to offer experience and knowledge for present and future welfare of the new city of Romulus. There are many areas that need improvement such as recreation, road maintenance, flooding, and systematic planning of local zoning. Sense of leadership and responsibility is required of any public servant, and this I possess."

On qualifications, Lopota stated that he realizes the need of recreation as being existent anywhere you go.

"Our youngsters have to travel beyond our boundary lines for activity. We should be able to offer them the same. With my experience with the road commission I have thorough understanding of road requirement, maintenance and construction. I have three years in Civil Engineering Formal Education and I have taken courses in American Economics and Political Science at Wayne State University."

On the major issues, he stated that the preservation of existent boundaries and tax base. Keeping Romulus intact is definitely of the most concern to all of us. Peoples voice is government and the proposed City Charter gives the voters the greatest say in government, (Continued on Page 5)

Airport expansion, under the City Charter, the city of Romulus voters, through the council, will have some influence in checking the overgrowth of the airport, and full time police force.

KLING, Charles, R., 34, seeking the office of treasurer, has been a Romulus resident for two years. He and his wife, Lucy Carole, are parents of two children: Glenn Gerald, 9; and Harvey Allan, 12.

He attended Boys High School, Brooklyn, N.Y., University of Chicago, University of Detroit and Wayne State University. He also attended Aircraft Electronics, U.S. Air Force, and University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona. He graduated from college in 1962.

He is self-employed — Management Consultant to Business Management and Controllers.

He has been active in Boy Scouts, Troop 729 Romulus, Engineering Society of Detroit; American Management Association, American Society of Tool & Manufacturing Engineering. He served in the Air Force 1954-1957.

On why he seeks the treasurer's office, Kline stated, "As a property owner, a citizen and a member of the community the best that I had to offer, five years of business management and budgetary planning and control. The management of business and of the fiscal responsibilities have been my profession for many years. I am a person that believes in getting involved because I care and because I am concerned."

On the major issues he said that the major issues at hand are: the retention and self control of our areas and boundaries and the supply of needed services that are required and asked by the people. Under City Charter, the major type government would be more qualified to offer this to the community.

The serious problem of unequal taxation and assessment of land and property that has been occurring for the last 10 years or more. Taxes are rising without any apparent reason or planning, how can we utilize those taxes to the best, and the establishing an equitable tax base.

And how to keep young people from leaving the community. "This is a question of industrial planning and coordinating so as to bring into Romulus diversified industries for the proper training and assimilation of jobs," Kline stated.

LOPOTA, Mrs. Mickie, 44, is seeking the office of City Clerk. She resides at 6711 Merriman Rd. her husband, Andrew is running for City Council. They are parents of three children.

Mrs. Lopota is a 1943 graduate of Redford High School and present occupation is housewife.

She is a member of Romulus Charter Commission. She has been affiliated with the following organizations:

Executive Chairman of Romulus A.L.S.A.C., past secretary of Romulus Democratic Club, past secretary of Romulus Recreation Commission, Secretary of Romulus Re-Act Committee, past president of Romulus United Foundation, Past secretary and president of Romulus Homeowners Association.

She served in the Women's Army Corps (1950-51). Received training in the Finance School at Fort Benjamin Harrison and served in the Fifth Army Headquarters, Chicago, Ill., as Army payroll clerk.

In seeking the clerk's office, Mrs. Lopota stated, "I seek the office because of my many activities in Romulus which has given me the opportunity to meet with and talk to residents."

"Over a period of years many persons have expressed what they feel a clerk should do for them. Also helping to draft the proposed charter which brings a strong desire to help the foundation which I feel we have started."

On major issues, Mrs. Lopota said are more police protection, more recreation facilities, not just for children, but for adults, too.

"I believe now is the time to go city. A non-partisan Charter should benefit all people concerned not one party or majority," she said.

NEHRA, Joseph, 60, of 38844 Huron River Drive, a city council candidate. He has been a Romulus area resident for 30 years and is a retail store owner.

He attended Lansing High School. Nehra and his wife, Grace, are parents of three children: Grace, 29; Joseph Jr., 26; Gail, 30.

Nehra is a former candidate for township treasurer and a member of Romulus Kiwanis Club.

On seeking council office, Nehra stated, "I know how to serve Romulus to the best of my ability after watching and fostering it through its many changes during my residency."

On qualifications, he said: "I have been in business for 30 years. I know quite a few people and I know what they need and are willing to achieve it."

He stated that Romulus should become a city. The people and others concerned (industry) will prosper one hundred percent."

HOFFMAN, Mrs. Mary W., 50, has been a resident of Romulus for 40 years. She and her husband are parents of six children, four sons and two girls.

On running for office of council, Mrs. Hoffman stated "I decided to seek election because of living here all these years and knowing the town and its people."

On election issues, Mrs. Hoffman stated:

"Are we ready to become a city? Like so many others I think we are. We need to be up with cities on either side of us. Cities offer more to the people. As far as taxes, it is and always will be a sore spot. But if our cities on either side of us take the land they say, it is the cream of the crop and all will have higher taxes anyway and be left with less. Drive around and just see what Taylor alone can take if they so mind to."

She has worked at Metro Airport for seven years and has been a member of the Cocks Union and a steward for the last 5 and one half years.

HESS, Mrs. Vivian, 55, running for city clerk, has been a resident of Romulus for six years.

She and her husband, Curtis, are parents of one daughter, Mrs. Betty Jean Holt. She is currently employed in Management.

She resides at 7170 Kempa.

She was a candidate for township clerk in 1966. She has been active in Cub Scout Money Raising Projects, Cancer Foundation, Eastern Star, White Shrine, Oriental Shrine and Amaranths.

On seeking office, Mrs. Hess stated: "Because I think I am qualified I was raised in business-production manager for Anderson Brass Company, time keeper for nearly four years at Ford Motor Company, owned and operated a restaurant for 18 years and worked for former Detroit City Clerk Albert C. Cobo."

She graduated from Wilson Intermediate School, Southwestern High School and correspondence courses in addition to night school work.

On qualifications she stated that she has been both with the employee and employer and understands both sides and that she is not afraid to stand up for the right issues.

On the election issues she said, "We all know we will eventually go into a city. So it might as well be now. I know there are a lot of things in the Charter I would like to see changed, but I believe they can be taken care of later. Everybody is concerned about the taxes in running a city, but with some leveled headed people in office that can keep them in off: that I can."

BIZEK, Edmund W., 29, of 8950 Cogswell, a Romulus resident for 27 years.

He is presently employed in the accounting department of the Wayne County Road Commission. He and his wife, Rose Ann, are parents of two children: Edmund M. 5; and John Patrick, one and half.

He is a Romulus High School graduate and attended Cleary Community College taking up business administration. He was precinct delegate in 1969. He is a member of the Romulus Democratic Club and 15th Congressional District Organization.

In seeking council post, Bizek said: I seek the office as an individual endorsing no slate, nor having any ties with any groups, making no promises, however pledging an honest and sincere effort. I'm concerned with the problems that face our community, and would like to play a part in providing a service for the people of Romulus.

On qualifications, he stated: Coming from a family of political interest I know the time involved in serving the public, to provide a good government needs individuals willing to work as a servant for the community."

Major issues were listed as Annexation, Recreation and taxation. He added, "There's always the possibility of annexation by a neighboring community. Why gamble with our interest:

"With the vast housing program, Romulus will need to look to the future to provide adequate recreation for their children. And we need to encourage industry to make Romulus their home. Our tax problem will never go down, but we have to keep it from doubling, and industry is the solution."

GERSKY, Michael L., 31, a life long resident of Romulus, council candidate resides at 33250 Herman.

He attended Romulus High School and the Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations, Wayne State University. He is presently employed at Webb Forging Company and served in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Gersky was chairman of the Grievance Committee (1964-67) United Steelworkers Local 4823, AFL-CIO, and vice president of the local 1966-67. He was also a delegate to past International Steelworker Convention and is a member of the Romulus Democratic Club.

In running for office, Gersky stated that he does not represent, or is on any slate. He is running with the intent to perform to the best of his ability in the interest of the people of Romulus. He added:

"I believe the key issues on this most important and demanding election for years to come, will be the cost born to the taxpayer for operating as a city versus township, plus what service will we gain as a city?"

"I believe under the provisions of the charter which speaks for itself, there will be minor drawbacks or losses, in so far as road maintenance by Wayne County. But even this is outweighed by the revenue the city will receive from gas, license and road taxes that now go to the county.

"As a city the people will be able to realize this revenue is double the service now rendered. Therefore the loss of this service will in turn be performed by or for Romulus will in reality be a gain to the people."

He stated that improvement is needed in Department of Planning, Department of Parks and Recreation, Police and fire departments services.

On recreation, Gersky added "Say it's about time something is done in this direction. Romulus has had land donated to be used as a park and recreation area, on Ozga Rd. The Romulus Progressive Club has donated a large sum of money to the development of the park. As a Taxpayer I am interested in seeing that all taxpayers are not burdened with outrageous run away taxes as are some cities."

Whirlwind Week

ARRIVING BACK in Belleville a week ago today were Jerry and Ann Remus and their son, Mike, who'd been out to the West Coast for a week's vacation. And it was an hour-to-hour agenda as the threesome accepted the invitation of Ann's brother, Jerome Mueller, to bunk at his Canoga Park place for a couple of days.

Having met their plane in Los Angeles, their host took 'em to Busch Gardens and Universal Studios before they took off in another direction.

Former Bellevillite Bill Stech and his wife, Mary Ann, picked them up and whisked them out to their summer place on the Colorado River in Yuma, Arizona. The fellas got in a bit of fishing and did the nature bit along the Colorado shoreline as well as at Martinez Lake.

On their return the Stechs, their three youngster in tow, chauffeured the Remuses across the border to San Luis, Mexico where they shopped and did some sight-seeing. Traveling back into the mountains for some 35 miles, they went through old silver mines while dodging rattle snakes and even a wild horse!

After a couple days in Yuma, the Remuses returned with the Stechs to their home in Harbor City.

And, on getting back together with Ann's brother, the foursome drove to Las Vegas for the fabulous time the city always seems to offer. The highlight of their stay was seeing Tom Jones at the International while glimpsing Dean Martin just a few tables away.

LIFE HEALTH

Kidney Disorders

When kidneys fail to function properly, the body is unable to eliminate some of the waste products, and a toxic condition is created.

The continuing build-up of the toxins results in loss of appetite, headache, loss of weight and general disease.

The kidneys function in response to brain energy impulses channeled from the brain through the spinal column to numerous muscles, tissues, and cells, which constitute the kidney. When the supply of nerve energy fails, the kidneys are not able to function properly.

The chiropractor, through his knowledge of the body's nervous system, uses scientific methods to determine the location and cause of spinal impingements and pressures which interfere with the operation of the kidneys. Through gentle, soothing adjustments, the chiropractor can bring immeasurable relief, and his adjustments eliminate the cause of the condition, allowing nature to cure from within. Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITOR:

Last week's issue of your paper made me pleased and proud to be a resident of the Belleville area. On the front page was a most encouraging story of today's youth, often much maligned because of a minority of radicals.

But your story on START (and bless you, you gave it front page space) re-affirms the faith of many like myself.

The students at Belleville High are to be commended for their selfless efforts to combat pollution. The area across from Susterka Lake was one of the biggest eyesores in our community and now, thanks to the German Club members, it stands clear of beer cans, pop bottles, paper, and other debris.

If this is the way our youth spends its Saturday afternoons, let's give them a big pat on the shoulder by endorsing their efforts—cleaning up our own blighted areas, yards, ditches, etc.

If each of us, individually or as a family, would undertake just a little responsibility, we could have this area looking like something we could be proud of.

And, too, I noticed the ad placed by the Belleville Kiwanis Club regarding detergents and their phosphate content. Here, again, is another area where we housewives can help the pollution crisis.

Let's go back to buying soaps and boycott the detergents and enzymes that are ruining our waterways and wildlife.

Here are two area clubs trying to wake us up to the hazards of pollution. Let's get behind them and do everything in our power to combat this extreme emergency.

Medicare Coverage Explained

DEARBORN—"Medicare does not pay for routine nursing home care", Louis Levine Social Security district manager, explains.

Only limited coverage for full-time skilled nursing care and other health services provided in the nursing home can be paid for under Medicare.

Many people believe that Medicare pays up to a hundred days of nursing home services under any circumstances. This is not true.

Congress made it very clear that only a certain kind of nursing home care would be paid for under Medicare. This is the type in which the patient's condition, upon discharge from a hospital, requires him to be in an institution for the primary purposes of receiving continuous skilled nursing services.

service is called an "Extended Care Facility."

Elwell's Sixth Graders 'Give Earth A Chance'

SETTING GOOD EXAMPLE — The sixth grade class at Elwell Elementary School set a good example for all of us to follow not only on the recent observation of Earth Day but every day. They took upon themselves with the consent of their teacher of course, to do something about the world's present increasing pollution problems. On April 22, Earth Day, they took the time and effort to clean up sections of Elwell and Bemis Rds. Their efforts yielded a better environment and the students felt they had been able to "Give Earth A Chance." The photos above show the sixth grade students in groups and a portion of accumulated rubbish and debris collected. Note school's anti-pollution display in photo at left.

Mt. Pleasant Students Tour Greenfield Village

ROMULUS — The third grade class of Mrs. Cheryl Brackney visited Greenfield Village on April 21 along with the three other classes.

The boys and girls enjoyed seeing Thomas Edison's Laboratory.

They had talked a great deal about Edison before they went and several pupils read biographies about him and gave book reports.

The girls liked the Martha-Mary Chapel. Many said they want to get married there. Also the covered bridge was a big attraction and many made a wish and walked through holding their breath to make it come true.

The students in Mrs. Karen Price's room also attended. "We had a great trip", said Robert Currie. He continues to say that Noah Webster's house was the most interesting building to him.

His classmates really looked forward to seeing Abraham Lincoln's chair. Most of them want to return to learn more. Miss Mary Peterson's third grade liked Edison's Laboratory the most. They also enjoyed the adventure of seeing Lincoln's Chair, Noah Webster's home, the Wright Cycle Shop, Windmill, Stephen Foster's home, Forge, Plumpton's Home, the Covered Bridge, McGuffey School.

Miss Cherie Olson's second graders also enjoyed taking the field trip with the third grade classes. They liked the first airplanes in the Wright Cycle Shop and were amazed at the different chemicals in Thomas Edison's Laboratory. All the boys and girls purchased rings made from nails at the Village Blacksmith Shop and rock candy from the General Store.

Junior High Students Visit Court, Hear Drug Cases

BELLEVILLE — "Your best friend will probably be the person who introduces you to drugs," said the Wayne County Probate Court Judge George N. Bashara, Jr., to an audience of seventh and eighth grade students at South Junior High School last Monday afternoon.

This student assembly program was the result of an invitation extended by Judge Bashara to junior high school students in Wayne County to visit his court when he would have several drug-addicted commitment petitions to pass on.

Ten South Junior High School seventh and eighth grade students visited the court and the Wayne County Jail on Friday, April 21.

At the court, the students witnessed the cases of people who were being hospitalized for mental illness, alcoholism and drug-addiction.

They also heard a nineteen-year-old addict tell his story of five years being "strung out" on the whole string of drugs until he had developed a $100 a day habit on heroin.

The story of painful withdrawals, family financial disaster, three convictions and two pending as a result of his addiction, was "truly horrifying."

In the afternoon, Judge Bashara escorted the students to the Wayne County Jail, where they saw prisoners who never see direct sunlight from their dirty cells.

The sergeant in charge of the jail tour answered the questions of the students and said that of their approximately 850 inhabitants who are under twenty-five, almost 600 of them are there because of drug related offenses. The students saw that the Wayne County Jail is truly an unpleasant place in which to spend time... any time.

At the assembly on the following Monday, Judge Bashara asked the ten students to relate some of their impressions to the rest of the student body.

He also addressed the students and extended an invitation to them to visit court on a Friday during the summer.

KAISER-MANHATTAN—Owners of Kaiser-Frazer Automobiles throughout the midwest and Canada will participate in a rally of Now-Extinct K-F cars at the 4-H Fairgrounds May 3. The above Kaiser-Manhattan, owned by Ken Mericle of 47090 Denton Rd., will be one of the many cars on display. Mericle is current president of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners Club. Other models owned by Mericle will also be at the car rally.

Rally Of Now-Extinct K-F Cars To Be Held May 3

BELLEVILLE—Owners of Kaiser-Frazer Automobiles throughout Ohio, Michigan and Canada will converge on the Belleville 4-H Fairgrounds, Sunday, May 3, for a full day of family fun.

The local meet is being hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sheets of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Campbell of Clinton.

Ken Mericle, 47090 Denton Rd., is director of the "Seaway", a Region of the Midwest Division of the K.F.O.C. Mericle is also "National President" of the Kaiser-Frazer Owners' Club, International. He was a former employee of the K.F. Corporation during the years 1946-1953.

The K.F.O.C. was formed at the organizational meet held in Chicago, 1959 by eight persons who wanted to get together and share their interests and know-how in Kaiser-Frazer Automobiles. Those in the Club own from zero K-F products to some with over 80.

Club members own, restore, buy, sell, swap or are just plain interested in the cars which rolled off the assembly line at the World War II Bomber Plant at Willow Run, Mich. beginning in 1946.

Many members repair their own cars and even keep their own parts in stock, ready for use. A warehouse, located in the Midwest, has parts available to members.

The National members have an annual convention, receive monthly Bulletin and Quarterly Magazine publications, parts, technical services and anything else to keep the K-F Cars going. They enjoy a nationwide and overseas fraternity that throws out the welcome mat for anyone who drives a K-F Car, or to the friends they have made through their K-F Club.

The 130 "Seaway" (Ohio, Michigan and Canada) members meet twice a year; Ohio in the fall and Michigan in the spring. The main purpose of the Club is to interest K-F owners to join, restore and preserve the treasured K-F products.

Readers may recall that Mr. Henry Kaiser, Sr., a multi-millionaire industrialist, died August 24, 1967. Mr. Joseph Frazer is now living at his home in Rhode Island.

These two men wowed the public in 1946 with the most modern looking cars anyone had ever seen. Thousands put out cold cash to insure their getting one of the new cars, even though they were not allowed to touch, ride in, or drive the two hand-made show models on display at the premiere showing in the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York City.

Many hundreds of thousands of the K-F Cars were built after the war, but enthusiasm turned to apathy as other makers copied K-F styling. The Frazer disappeared in 1951 and the Kaiser and Henry J followed in 1954.

There are many other regional meets and get together at various times throughout the year. Prizes or trophies are awarded in many categories for the cars attending the meets.

An invitation is extended to all K-F owners, members and non-members to attend this rally. The 1970 National Convention will be held in Hershey, Pa., July 24-26.

Van Buren's Title One Reviewed

BELLEVILLE—Representatives of the Reading Department of the Utica Community Schools reviewed the Van Buren Title I Reading Project last Wednesday.

The meeting was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building at 9:30 a.m.

Mrs. Jessie Wackus, a former Van Buren Elementary School teacher, made the arrangements for the Utica Reading Consultants to survey and respond to the Van Buren Title I Project.

The visitors' response was positive and many of the Van Buren Reading principles may be incorporated into their program.

It was further suggested that elementary schools around the state join together in sharing effective techniques in Reading and Responsible Self-Action. Through the consolidated efforts of many educators and parents significant gains in Reading and Self-Responsibility may be made for ALL elementary students.

We're supporting cityhood for Romulus

WON'T YOU JOIN US?

Romulus Jaycees Back Proposed City Charter

ROMULUS-Cityhood is better government. A YES vote on Romulus' proposed charter is being urged by The Romulus Jaycees in the May 7 election.

The Jaycees are asking all Industrial and Commercial Businesses to place a poster in their windows urging the citizens to vote YES on cityhood.

The Jaycees have a supply of these posters and they may be obtained by calling 941-3196.

"Cityhood is the best way for Romulus to help realize its great potential and for the residents to gain by the benefits from that potential," said Don Treder, Jaycee official.

He further stated that "its progressive-it's a forward step-it will cost more the longer we wait--It is Cityhood."

"Cityhood is self governing, not state controlled like township government. It's good government by the people."

"One advantage contained in the charter, Treder said, is the provision for referendum to be spelled out in each ordinance or legislation passed by council.

Under township government it is very vague. A few of the people opposing the Charter can vouch for the conflicting number of signatures needed on different categories of township ordinances."

"It will give us control over our boundaries. Also, other public agencies can not discriminate buy up our land without a good justified reason."

"Help your community make a forward step, vote YES in the coming May 7 election."

Romulus Students Set Art Exhibition

ROMULUS — The Art Club of Romulus Junior High School is sponsoring an Art Exhibit at Westland Shopping Center on May 4-15.

The exhibit will feature, not only works from the Art Club, but from both the seventh and eighth grade classes.

About 500 hundred pieces of work in several different medias will be displayed. Some highlights are:

De'Coupage, litho-sketch,

Ceramics and Block printing.

Many other fine creative pieces are displayed.

Mrs. Linda Jones, the Art Club sponsor and seventh grade Art Teacher says, "This is the first time we have had an exhibit at Westland Shopping Center, and the students are thrilled to know that their work will be on display for the public to view.

The exhibition is one of the best.

It is unbelievable that all of the work was done by Junior High Students.

Union Endorses Smith

ROMULUS-Roderick E. Smith, currently Romulus supervisor, has received the unanimous endorsement of UAW-CIO Region 1-E which embraced Western Wayne County communities.

The Political Action Committee of Local 36 (Ford Wixom Plant) made the endorsement report to Smith last week.

Smith seeks the post of Mayor in the May 7 Charter Election.

Beekeeping in Michigan hit a low point of 104,000 hives in 1962. By 1969, the figure had risen to over 120,000 — mostly because of the greater need for pollination of highbush blueberries and hybrid cucumbers. Michigan State University scientists say the 12,000 colonies used on blueberries have brought over $70,000 to Michigan beekeepers and much greater yields to growers.

Perry's Backers Report On Meet

ROMULUS — Campaign backers of Alfred J. Perry seeking election to the mayor's post in the charter election, May 7, reported another successful meeting which was held on April 22 at his campaign headquarters at the L. & L. Hall, 11114 Sterling.

Perry is explaining to interested citizens what is in the Charter, taxation and many other informative questions that may be raised by citizens.

He makes his stand on City status very clear: that he was on the Charter Commission and voted in favor of the Charter. He is not trying to pressure the citizens into buying anything that they may or may not want.

The explanation is made solely so the people can fully understand what is in the Charter and then they can make up their own minds if they want to accept the proposed Charter or not.

Independent candidates who were at this meeting and introduced were:

Norbert Wegienka, Leslie A. Wood, and Ellis Pennington, all running for council.

A variety of questions were asked and answered, such as, can Council by resolution pass paving assessment; annexation; and how does a leader know what the people need?

There isn't much time left. If you are interested in good government for Romulus. If you would like a good explanation on how the City Charter works, then bring your questions and get the answers at the L. & L. Hall, tonight at 8 p.m. Bring your friends.

Upon Motion by Hamlin, supported by Councilman Palmer, that the following resolution was offered.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Governor and members of the Michigan Legislature be advised of the position of this Council and that the Governor and members of the Legislature are urged to work for the defeat of this bill.

Huron Senior Wins Scholarship

Thirty-nine outstanding high school students throughout the nation have won college scholarships in The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company's 1970 Scholarship Awards Program, it was announced by Raymond C. Firestone, company chairman.

The 39 winners are all sons and daughters of Firestone employees. The grants they receive are worth up to $1,750 per year toward tuition, fees, required textbooks and up to two-thirds of the room and board expense during the four years of college.

In addition to the 39 scholarship recipients, 172 applicants were selected to receive Certificates of Merit and United States Savings Bonds in recognition of their outstanding high school records.

The 211 Scholarship and Certificate of Merit winners for 1970 live in 32 states and were selected from 349 applicants. Of the 39 scholarship winners, 24 are boys and 15 are girls. The 172 Certificate of Merit winners include 119 girls and 53 boys.

Among those receiving Certificates of Merit was Christopher Fincher, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Fincher, 28489 King Rd., Romulus. He is a senior at Huron High School, New Boston. His father works at Firestone Steel Products Company, Wyandotte.

Yates Cites Issues

ROMULUS-Hulen Yates, 31, of 15555 Colbert, who is seeking one of the seven council seats in the City Incorporation Election in Romulus May 7, aired Monday what he termed to be some of the major issues in the election.

"I think there are some problems of zoning of some parts of Romulus and putting somewhat of a burden on some of the schools and on people. If elected I will work hard to solve this problem.

"I think taxes are one of the main issues. I will work as hard as I possibly can to keep them at the lowest minimum. I also think that Romulus' school system has plenty of room for improvement."

Yates, a carpenter by profession, stated that he felt that there should be some kind of a recreation center, or year-round activity for Romulus children, both boys and girls, to help keep them off the streets and out of trouble.

4-H Club Airs Program

NEW BOSTON — The regular monthly meeting of the Huron Valley 4-H club was held on April 19, in the basement of the St. Stephen's church in New Boston.

The motion was made to use some of the club funds to buy 4-H sweatshirts.

For a money making project it was decided to have a Rummage Sale on Friday, May 1 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., and on Saturday, May 2, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will be held in the white building behind the St. Stephen's Church located on Huron River Drive.

Correction

ROMULUS--In last week's issue, the current employment status of a council candidate in the upcoming Romulus' Charter election (May 7) was incorrectly reported.

Gordon C. Silvey, president of the Romulus Jaycees, was reported to be the sales manager of McDonald Dairy. This is incorrect. He is a sales representative.

ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF

Folmar Gives Position On Dismissal

ROMULUS — Leonard J. Folmar, Romulus Township Urban Renewal aide fired last week by the Township Board because he filed as a candidate for Clerk in the proposed City of Romulus election May 7, apparently isn't going to try to make "political hay" out of the dismissal.

But it isn't going uncontested either.

"I think the Board acted improperly ... particularly under the circumstances -- but it's a question for the Board and Union to work out in proper channels -- not for me to try to make political benefit out of with the public," the 28-year old Folmar said Monday.

"I've been an employee with the Township for several years now. I have lived all my life in Romulus, grew up and went to school here. I've accepted the chance for public office because I want to continue to try to help build and be a part of Romulus. I'm not interested in tearing it or its officials down ... even in a circumstance like this!"

Folmar, a graduate of Ferris State and active with Romulus Rotary, Jaycees, Romulus Community Relations Commission, and the Wayne County Community College Policy Advisory Committee, was suspended by a 5-1 vote of the Township Board at last week's Tuesday night meeting.

The suspension is for five days and is to be followed by discharge under action taken by the Board under Article 10, Section G of the Union Contract.

The Union, of which Folmar is a member, has taken a position that the Township is in violation of the contract for the suspension and Monday requested immediate reinstatement without loss of wages and fringe benefits.

"The suspension was a shock to me," Folmar said, "because the provisions under which it was taken appear to me to apply only if an employee is seeking a Township office ... and because I had written the Board asking for clarification ... publicly stating that I wanted to assure that the Township and I are in compliance with all ordinances and contract obligations."

"I had expected at least a ruling and an answer, thereby giving me the opportunity to professionally resign if need be ... not get fired on the spot."

Folmar said he had sought an interpretation of his eligibility for office when he was first contacted about running.

"I was approached about the possibility of being a candidate by a representative of the IQ Group (Citizens for Integrity & Quality in Romulus Government) and I checked it out then," Folmar said.

Leonard J. Folmar

"I hadn't even given any thought to be a candidate before then. But I appreciated the recognition of being considered worthy. I liked what I saw in that group. And since it was a non-partisan election, I finally made a decision to accept and run for public office."

"I like to think I've been active and that everyone should do whatever he can with whatever talents he has. I would like very much to be a clerk of Romulus. I'm campaigning the best I know how for the job."

"I think we'll get this thing straightened out. I'm not going to get any personalities involved and I'm certainly not going to try to play politics with it."

"Except, maybe ... that this sort of confusion might be another good reason for going to city government."

Ron Hopson, chairman of the IQ Group which solicited Folmar as candidate for Clerk on its election slate, said the IQ'ers have agreed to follow Folmar's pattern.

"We are kind of shocked and don't really know what to make of the matter," Hopson said Monday, adding "Len has asked us to leave it up to the Union and the Township Board ... and his wishes are good enough for us. The other candidates on the slate are, of course, all working for each other as well and said Sunday that they would redouble their efforts to get Len elected."

"We don't see that it affects his candidacy one way or another really -- it certainly doesn't change his qualifications any. He's an outstanding young man and capable of making good decisions!"

Belleville Losing Streak Reaches 5

While the Detroit Tigers were humming off in one direction with eight straight wins, the Belleville Tigers were humdrumming along the other way with five fast flops.

And things look to get worse before they get better.

Ypsilanti kicked in the door to start the week by drubbing the Tigers 14-3 and except for Dick Wenzel's bases-loaded double in the sixth to chase home all the Belleville runs for the day, the story was all Steve Rhodin.

Rhodin, star of the Brave's top-ranked basketball teams the past two years, choked the Tigers off with only two hits and Belleville coach Vitold Kaminskis summarized his team's failing this season with a pained reflection: "We are," he said, "just not hitting."

His boys stressed his point against Edsel Ford as they ganged up on Edsel Ford for exactly one hit. Dan Smith got the lone single in the third inning and it scored Larry Fix when a throw to third went wild. Fix had reached base on an error.

Despite the setback coach Kaminskis was impressed with Marty Miller who was his losing pitcher. "Miller's only a sophomore and he pitched a real fine game for us. Five of the six runs they scored on him were unearned."

Edsel Ford took advantage of the weak defense to push two runs across in the fourth and then they iced the issue with a four run flurry in the sixth.

The toughest loss of the week was an earlier 3-2 eight inning contest to Livonia Bentley Again Belleville had the lead but Bentley eventually won the game on a perfect squeeze play in the extra frame. With one out the Bulldogs scored on the bunt after an error, a fielder's choice and a single. Fix and Smith bolted

Belleville on the board early with a single and a double in the opening inning. Fix then scored on a passed ball. After the Bulldogs tied it in their half of the first Bob White smashed a homer for the Tigers to give them another shortlived lead, 2-1. Wenzel pitched a tight game and struck out 12 men and allowed only four walks despite being saddled with the loss.

The Tigers are home tomorrow for a Suburban Six clash with Trenton before they travel to Wayne on Friday. Wayne won in an earlier meeting 6-2.

Eagles Open League Play

Romulus Whips Chief

Romulus sent 14 batters to the plate in a nine-run second inning that paved the way to a 13-8 nonleague victory over Huron last week.

blasted away at losing hurler Bob Gumtow for nine runs to take a commanding 11-0 lead over the Chiefs.

Gumtow left the mound with two-away and was relieved by Butch Suemnick who lasted until the fifth when coach Ron Smith handed over the pitching chores to Ron Thompson who finished up.

The Chiefs, however, showed signs of life after three scoreless innings and rallied for three runs in the fourth and seventh frames, adding two in the fifth.

Leon Jones who went five innings was the winning pitcher. He struck out six and walked nine while the Chiefs tagged him for four hits. Lee Ballard, who pitched the last two innings, got the Hurons in order in the sixth but gave up two hits and five walks in a wild last inning.

Suemnick appears to have found his hitting eye again as he cracked out a single and double in three trips.

Bill Worden, Jones and Ray Horn padded their batting averages at the expense of Huron pitching. Worden collected a double and single in four trips while Jones, also two for four, batted in two runs as did Horn who went one for three.

It'll be a busy week for Romulus if the weatherman permits. The Eagles begin their assault on the Twin-Valley title.

River Rouge will visit Romulus on Friday for the second of two league tests. The Eagles play Hamtramck today in an out of the conference affair after launching the Twi-Valley campaign Monday at Willow Run.

Pettus Is Super

Belleville Wins

Turning in another super-performance, Belleville's Garrade Pettus captured four individual first places to pave the way for the Tigers 71-47 Suburban Six dual meet victory of Livonia Bentley.

Pettus, a junior, ruled the high and low hurdles as he was clocked in 21.3 and 15.7, respectively. He also leaped 21'3" to pick up a first in the long jump, then only needed 5'10" to win the high jump.

It was rookie coach Ken Head's first league win since taking over as Belleville track mentor.

Belleville also received winning performances from Larry Merritt who cleared 12'6" in the pole vault; in the 440, from Mike Fant (50.9) and from Jeff King, in the 220 yard dash (24.4).

Both Tiger relay teams chalked up victories.

In the 880, the foursome of Merritt, King, Sam Durham and Dave Lorentson was clocked in 1:35.6 while Dale Kauletz, Al Vandecar, Lorentson and Fant carded a 3:31 in the mile.

The victory also evened up the Belleville league record at 1-1.

Belleville turned into a serious challenger for the Jackson Relays championship last week as the Tigers came up with three first places and 32 points to place third in a field of 12.

East Lansing claimed the title with 46 points and Jackson Parkside was second with 41.

Hold AAU Junior Wrestling Tourney

Garden City West High School will be the site of the annual State Junior Olympics AAU Freestyle Wrestling Championships set for May 9.

The championships will be divided into two divisions with 11 and 12 year olds in a Junior Class and the 13 and 14 in an Intermediate class.

A clinic, beginning at 12:30 a.m. on May 9, will help prospective competitors with the finer points of wrestling. The clinic is headed by Dean Shipman, Garden City West High mat coach.

Weigh-in for the championships is scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. and will last until 11 a.m.

There is a $2.00 fee which covers registration for the championships. Those who place in the top three places in each of the 10 weight classes will be awarded olympic medals.

The tourney is locally sponsored by the Garden City Parks and Recreation Club and the American Wrestling Club.

Going to OKLAHOMA May 16; have room for 950.

Romulus Thinclads Card First Victory

Despite a poor nonleague start, Romulus thinclads were in shape for Twin Valley Conference rival, Willow Run, and compiled a 65-53 dual meet victory over the Flyers, on Thursday.

The victory was also coach Wayne Schimming's first since taking over the Eagles this season.

Coach Schimming has no dreams of creating a victory string, though, as league and class B state power, Ecorse, awaits his Eagles on Thursday.

Romulus will host the defending league champ tomorrow, then will compete in the annual Ecorse Relays on Saturday. Tuesday, the Eagles, will participate in the Western Wayne Relays.

Romulus mustered up an even split of first places with the Flyers. Romulus' David Bell won three of the seven events.

Bell won the long jump with a leap of 19' 5½" and took both the 120-high (16.8) and the 180-low (22.4) hurdles for his triplicate.

David Brown won the pole vault as he cleared 12 feet and Gary Martin's 56.8 for the quarter-mile was the best clocking for the event. John Arrington claimed the 100 yard dash with a 10.8 performance.

THE SPORTS MERIDIAN

By Tom Mooradian

It used to be in those good old days when we referred to four lettermen in colleges, universities and high schools, we generally were speaking about some outstanding athlete on campus.

There were in our times only a few athletes who earned coveted stripes in four sports. Apparently, now-adays, there are now scores of four-lettermen on campuses today.

Anyway that's what one sophist pointed out to me this week. She said that times have changed and that "four lettermen are in abundance."

"Four lettermen today however are not the athletes but the schools' editors," she says.

And what brought up four letter words? Well, four letter words. One especially:

RUPP.

No, don't rush to the dictionary to look up the definition. And, if you attend one of the many colleges or universities, notably the University of Michigan or Michigan State University — DON'T, whatever you do, ask the basketball coach what is RUPP.

You may be startled if you do!

Let me explain:

Rupp — Adolph Rupp, that is — and his gang recently pulled off one of the biggest robberies in basketball history. And they also proved that the University of Kentucky has much more to offer a young, 6-foot-7, 200-pound high school cage star than any of the state colleges, including the U of M and MSU.

Rupp, of course, is the head basketball coach at the University of Kentucky.

And the young star he stole from the state is none other than Garden City West's first All-State, All-American cager, Rick Drewitz.

Drewitz chose Kentucky last week.

Though some 75 schools across the nation hung plums such as "full ride" scholarships at Rick, the lanky cager-scholar revealed last week that he will attend the University of Kentucky next fall.

His reason was that "he loved basketball, and that Kentucky had the best teams".

What did West High coach Chris Babler have to say about his star by-passing local schools, including MSU where Chris had earned his degree?

"Rick always has made excellent decisions and I think this is also a very good decision," he said.

(You traitor, you.)

Some folks tell us that there was one university that promised to give Rick a college degree even before he attended the school as long as he agreed to play for them.

There are good reasons, of course, why Drewitz was among the most sought after prep cagers in the nation this season. He was great in high school — and he has the potential of becoming one of those "super stars" in college.

Aside from his superb credentials — he scored at nearly a 30 ppg clip; hauled down 434 rebounds, led West to its second straight conference and district titles' and to a regional championship, then carried the team to the State Class A semi-finals.

But, equally important, Rick has an innate mechanism that keeps him cool under all types of pressure.

During those trying months when rival players were out to stop him, Rick always "played his brand of game."

It is no wonder that Drewitz was so sought after?

And it is no wonder that RUPP has become a "dirty word" around local cage circles these days.

Claiming Horse Becomes Winner For J. E. Grissom

A claiming horse one day, stakes winner a short time later is the story of Charlie Jr., a four-year-old colt, owned by T.A. and J.E. Grissom, who heads a list of 37 nominations for the $15,000-added Good Neighbors Handicap at the Detroit Race Course Saturday, May 2.

The Grissom stable claimed Charlie Jr. for $15,000 a little over a year ago, and the improving colt has gone on to win a total of $56,000 for his owners. Unbeaten this year in four starts: January 16, a $15,000 claiming race; March 6, an allowance race; March 21, a handicap race; and on March 28 he was shipped to Hot Springs, Arkansas, and was victorious in the $50,000-added Oaklawn Handicap.

As an additional headache for the rest of the packed field, the Grissom's are expected to couple Charlie Jr. with Miracle Hill, a $100,000-plus stakes winner in 1969.

Contesting the Grissom entry will be a local star, P.F. Ternes', Champion Kid, who went four-for-four in stakes race competition in the Detroit area last year. Also nominated for the Good Neighbors is J.L. Smallwood's Misty Run, who's looking to repeat a 1969 winning purse performance of $77,000.

The One Mile and 70-yard Good Neighbor Handicap is the feature event on Saturday's 10-race program with post parade set for 2:00 P.M. During the week the horses go postward at 3:20 P.M.

TIME FOR THOUGHT — Pausing between pitches is Romulus' Lee Ballard who has carried the pitching burden ably thus far this season for the Eagles. In their only game last week, Romulus routed nonleague rival, Huron, 13-8, and will turn their thought to league competition this week.

Huron threatened in all seven innings, keeping winning pitcher Brian LeBlanc on his toes until the fifth when he was yanked for reliever Dennis Sluder, who preserved the win.

Flat Rock put out a fifth inning rally when the Chiefs managed to get men on first and second with one away. They scored on a controversial play when Tony Garcia's single scored Don Delano from second.

But the map ruled that Delano had failed to touch third rounding the base for home and called the base runner "out."

Errors

Huron's Jack Gracia was also robbed of a homer when 6-8 rightfielder, Steve Glun snared a well-hit ball near the right-center field fence.

Gracia finished the day, however, with a pair of doubles for three trips. Teammate Butch Suemnick slapped a single and double as the Chiefs managed six hits off of the pair of rival pitchers.

Huron is looking to improve its 1-4 conference record this week, taking on three league rivals, Grosse Ile is on the agenda for today.

Thinclads

The Eagle foursome of Brent Hamilton, Rod Buckley, Gary Martin and Arrington combined for a 1:38 clocking to capture the 880-relay.

On Tuesday, however, Romulus found itself on the shortend of an 80½ to 36½ count with nonleague rival, Dearborn Heights Robichaud.

Robichaud swept 12 of the 14 events, leaving the shot put to Marvin Williams (39") and the pole vault to Brown.

Romulus Students Set Art Exhibition

ROMULUS — The Art Club of Romulus Junior High School is sponsoring an Art Exhibit at Westland Shopping Center on May 4-5.

The exhibit will feature, not only works from the Art Club, but from both the seventh and eighth grade classes.

About 500 hundred pieces of work in several different medias will be displayed. Some highlights are:

De'Coupage, litho-sketch, Ceramics and Block printing.

Many other fine creative pieces are displayed.

Mrs. Linda Jones, the Art Club sponsor and seventh grade Art Teacher says, "This is the first time we have had an exhibit at Westland Shopping Center, and the students are thrilled to know that their work will be on display for the public to view.

The exhibition is one of the best.

It is unbelievable that all of the work was done by Junior High Students.

Band Sets Exchange Concert

ROMULUS — The Romulus Senior High School Band Monday announced an Exchange Concert with Willow Run High School.

On May 1, the Romulus Senior High Band will go to Willow Run High for its concert starting at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Willow Run High School Band will make a return engagement on May 12 at Romulus High School also starting at 8 p.m. Admission is free.

Outdoor Group Reports

BELLEVILLE — The Huron Valley Conservation Association has been active in the past month in the Ford and Belleville Lake Clean-up program with other groups.

This clean-up campaign does not have to end. Each group or individual doesn't have to quit.

Let's all of us keep on doing our little bit this Summer, not just around the Lakes, but everywhere. Make sure that litter container is in your car, is the urging of association officials.

The H.V.C.A. wants to give special recognition to two junior members: Barry Loneyzski and Eugene

Griffiths, who, with their friends, have continued with their island clean-up just west of Lake Pointe Pass. Keep up the good work fellows.

To the members who were not at the last membership meeting, the house and grounds committee have been very active in trying to find suitable grounds for the association. If by chance you know of some land that is available, get in touch with Noble Hamrick, or a member of the Board of Directors.

Ed O'Brien, chairman for the coming Carp Shoot Event stated that he has nearly everything in shipshape. Volunteers to help him are still welcomed. Plans are already in the making for our annual membership picnic also.

Once again the H.V.C.A. is sending five boys to the M.U.C.C. Conservation Camp near Ludington. This is a great camp for the boys to learn about the outdoors and how to enjoy it.

Membership Secretary,

Gordon Belaire states that all 1970 membership dues are not in. Don't lose out, get your dues in. The D.N.R. Hot Line in Lansing is on. Last year's fund raising drive for a new patrol boat for the Wayne County Sheriff's Marine Safety Division, was a success.

Belleville Lake will still have "Safety On The Water".

ALL we can say is, THANKS! Next general membership meeting is at Rogalle's at 7:30 sharp, May 11. See you there! "Got a Gripe? Write Your Legislator".

Students Conduct Nature Hike

ROMULUS — The Fourth Grade class of James Hirzel, teacher, took a nature study hike to Metro Park on April 22.

Approximately five miles were covered that day.

The primary purpose of the hike was to discover which forms of plant life were beginning to bloom this early in the year. Incidental aspects of the hike included the finding of cocoons, bird nests and frogs. The spring flowers are beginning to show their green luster and also a few of their buds.

A valuable scientific discovery was made, specifically a rare petrified snake, which is currently on display in the classroom.

The class enjoyed a lovely picnic overlooking the picturesque lower level of the Huron River in Metro Park.

Marine Patrol Reports

DETROIT — While most boat owners in Wayne County are still in the process of preparing their craft for the coming boating season, the Marine Safety Division of the Wayne County Sheriff Department has already been called into action.

The Sheriff's Marine Division reported the first recovery of a drowning victim from the Detroit River on April 14.

The Scissortailed flycatcher is the state bird of OKLAHOMA.

Suburbs Warned To Drop Facades Or Die With Cities

By DON HOENSHELL

LANSING — Gov. Milliken is urging big city suburbs to drop their split level facades and work together or die with the troubled metropolises that they fled.

He says many of the problems afflicting the suburbs were inherited from the core city and a general attack on them is overdue.

Milliken said young people from the Detroit suburbs are already communicating with others inside the city and the invisible social barriers are tumbling down.

"It is a critical truth that the suburbs will not be able to heal the inner cities unless they first heal themselves," he said.

Milliken's platform was a citizen's symposium in Birmingham, but he said it applied to all suburbs of larger cities.

He said suburbanites are shocked at the emerging problems of pollution, traffic, drugs, the breakdown of the family and "the crisis of education."

"But there is another suburban problem that is even more critical ... and that is the problem of apartheid," he said. "Until that problem is solved, I doubt very much that there will be any significant progress in solving other suburban problems."

The problem of apartheid shows up, he said, not only in the separation of the suburbs in social and governmental ways from the inner city, but in the separation of suburbs from each other.

"I wonder how many suburbanites recognize how isolated neighbors have become from one another?" he asked. "I wonder how many problems their neighbors are having behind the split-level facades that collectively create the illusion of tranquility and comfort?"

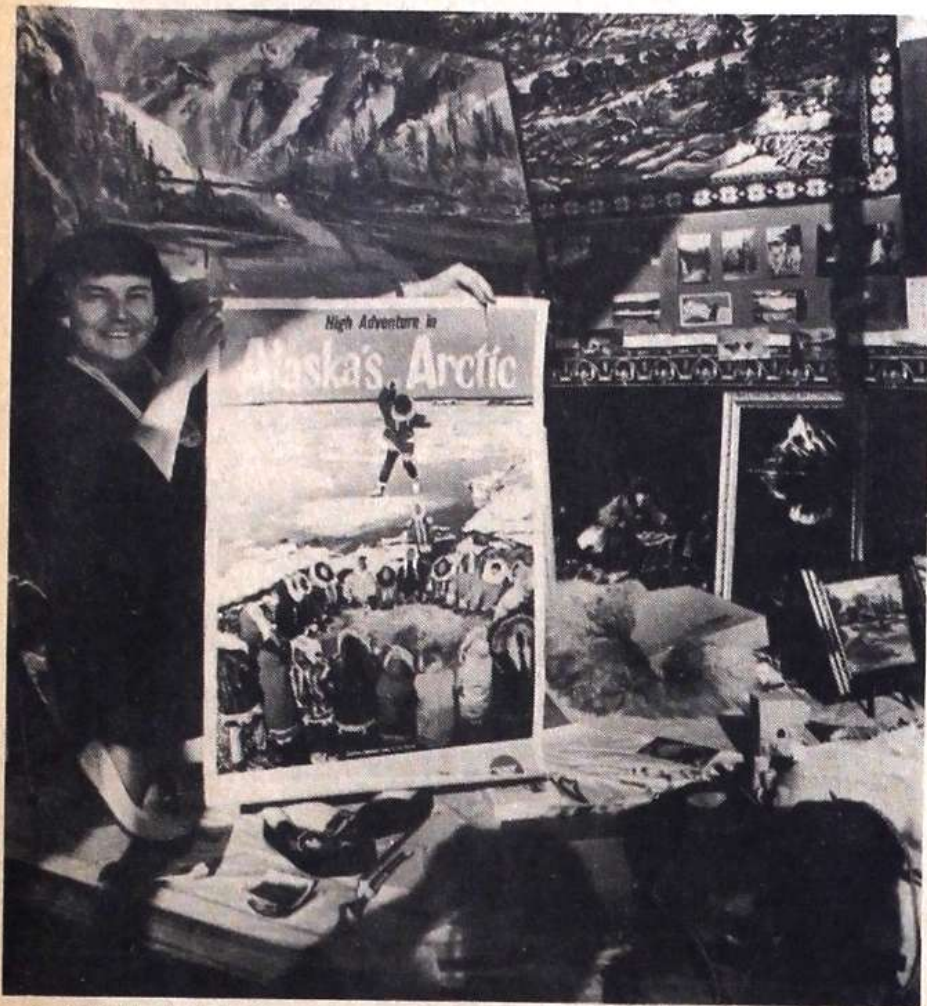

Milliken said one ready answer already under way is the movement toward metropolitan government, though he declined to take a position on details of its implementation.

"The fact of the matter is, I believe, that most people in the suburbs don't talk to each other," he said. "Either they don't talk at all or they don't really communicate when they do."

"People live in isolation, pretending that their responsibilities as citizens, as neighbors, and even as decent human beings stop at the boundary of their property."

He said the suburbs must (Continued on Page B-5)

ALASKAN ARTISTRY — Mrs. Dottie Brian kneels in the window with her Alaskan exhibit at the Wayne branch office of the National Bank of Detroit on Michigan Ave., just west of Wayne Rd. The Garden City school teacher took up painting at the urging of a friend 10 years ago and has now painted in 27 countries.

Paintings Provide Chance For Travel

By JIM BRADLEY

Dottie Brian is truly a cosmopolitan woman.

The Westland woman, who has taught in the fifth grade in Garden City for 14 years, has traveled to 27 countries with her artistic talent paying her way.

Her most recent venture was a trek to Alaska from June to September of 1969 with her husband, Floyd, and their 13-year-old son, David.

Mrs. Brian is currently displaying her drawings of Alaska, and other art collections, in the windows and on the walls of National Bank of Detroit's branch office in Wayne. In addition, she is working through the Sam Fields Agency to show other artistic work at Hudson's in Northland Shopping Center.

It all started when Mrs. Brian, who wasn't really interested in art, was discovered to have creative ability by a Garden City art co-ordinator, and her close friend, Ruth Smythe.

Encouraged to take up painting, Dottie pursued the craft with enthusiasm. She studied under Professor Dorothy Lamming at Eastern Michigan University and presently is learning under the expert tutelage of George Francoeur, a noted artist.

Dottie has a master's degree in guidance and counseling and a bachelor's degree for teaching. Guidance and counseling make up her main teaching assignment, but the growing interest in art has opened a whole new world for her.

Now half-way toward her master's degree in art, it was that innate ability that led her on her travels. She journeyed to Central America in 1966 for eight months to study at San Miguel de Allende School.

She painted landscapes as she traveled and sold the paintings to pay her fare. Her visit to Alaska was supported in a similar manner.

Her display at the bank in Wayne, called "High Adventure in Alaska's Arctic," is comprised of souvenirs and paintings she drew while driving the Alcan Highway.

They drove a truck and 18-foot trailer, with her husband at the wheel. Every so often they would stop to rest and, while the men fished, Dottie would get out her brush and canvas. She sketched the countryside in brilliant colors in a matter of minutes, creating attractive pictures which sold for $1.189 for her three week's work.

The "Land of the Midnight Sun" was thrilling to behold, she says. But, of all the countries she has seen, she calls Germany the most interesting.

In speaking of her artistic desires, Dottie says:

"I want to stimulate and communicate -- but not spell it out completely. I want to communicate on a creative level."

She loved abstract paintings also, but not the "way out" kind. "I like what I call abstract impressionistic landscape paintings," she explains. "I like to give the general impression of a scene, then leave the 'filling in' to the person studying the picture."

One of Dottie's paintings hangs in a museum in Juneau, Alaska, where she has been invited to put on a "one-man" show by author-artist Clara Fejef.

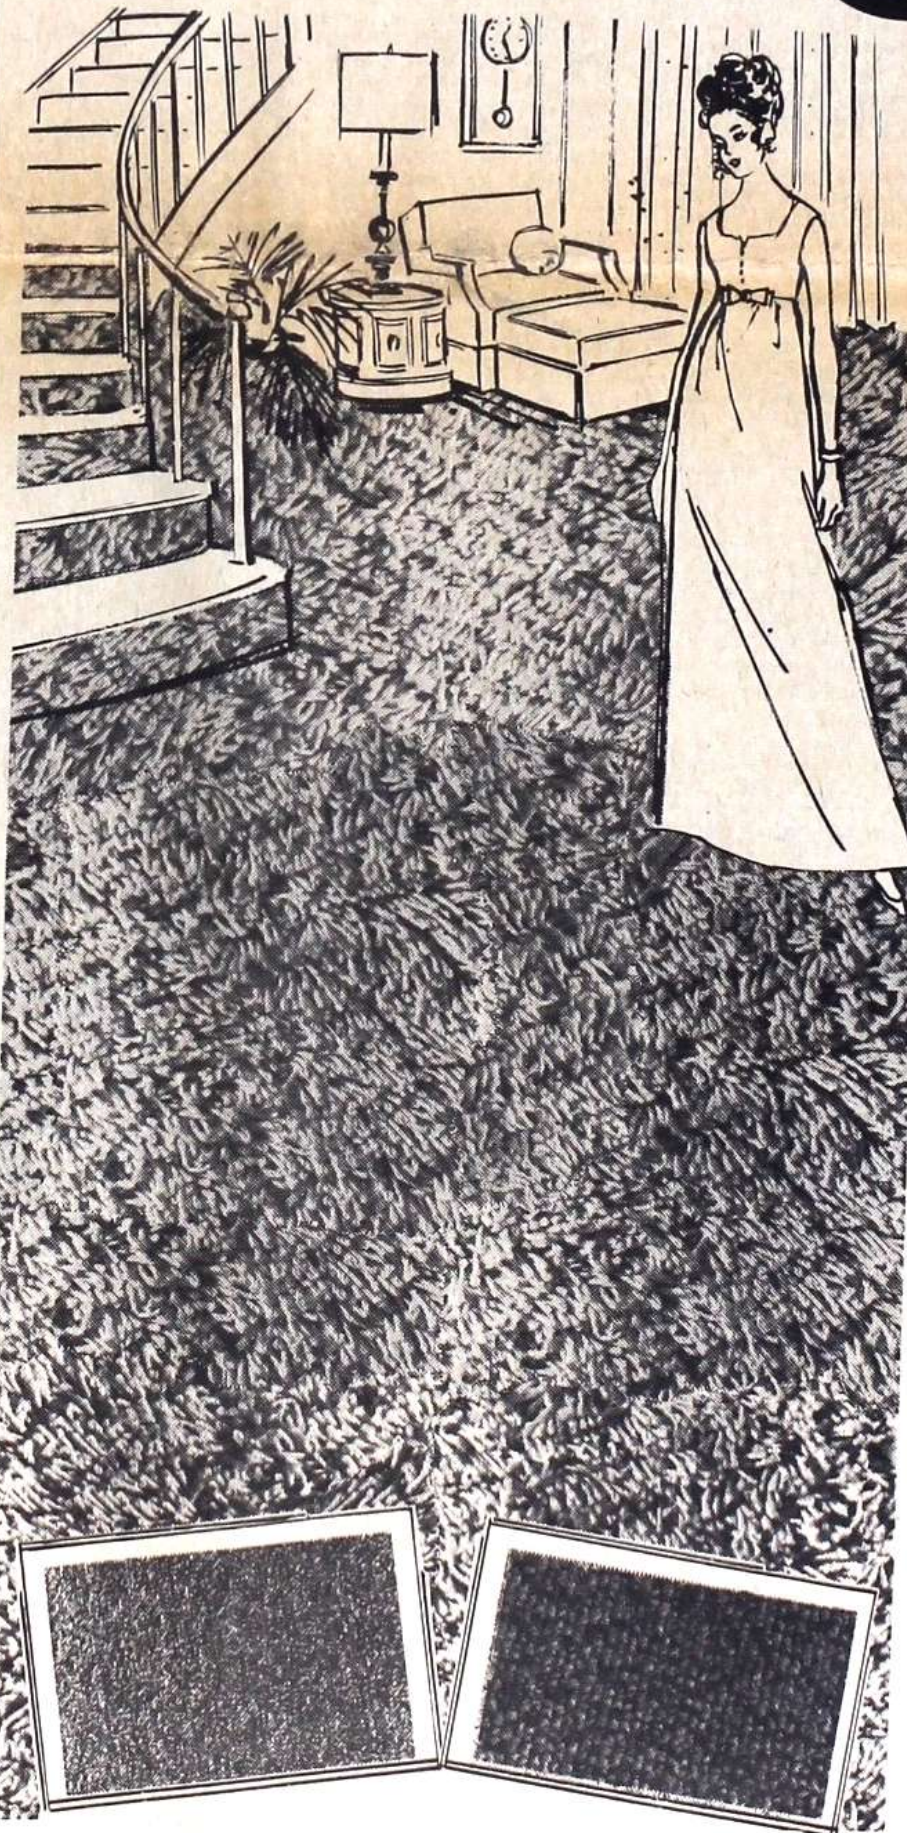

Although she found the journey to Alaska fraught with a battle against the dust-dry climate, she found the tiring eight-day trip exciting.

"Women don't like the area as well as men because the men can get out and hunt and fish, while the women are largely restricted to staying inside," Dottie pointed out.

She found the life challenging especially the fact that the men can hunt all kinds of large animals, including bear, elk, caribou and deer.

OFF TO LANSING — Scheduled for a daylong tour of the State Capitol and other legislative offices and Michigan State University, 27 newsboys from Associated Newspapers, Inc., a division of Panax Corporation, spent yesterday in the Lansing area. The youngsters from Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Inkster won their trips by signing up new customers for the newspaper routes.

Newsboys Visit In Lansing

LANSING — Twenty-seven newspaper carriers went to Lansing yesterday in a bus trip sponsored by Associated Newspapers, a division of Panax, Inc.

Each of the carriers had to sign up six new customers on his route to win the trip. The youngsters from Wayne, Westland, Garden City and Inkster were all excused from school for the day.

The carriers had the opportunity of meeting State Sen. William Faust, State Rep. Vincent Petitpre and State Rep. James Tierney. They lunched at the Mason Building cafeteria adjacent to the State Capitol.

The youngsters from Wayne were Chris Lanthier, Bobby Sumner, Jerry Baker, Terry Caza, Calvin Rowe, Jeff Jones, Lindy Ruggierello, Ken Scurlock and Barry Wilson.

From Garden City the carriers were Frank Romba, Mike Banas and Randy Ellis. Taking the trip from Inkster was Mike Knight.

The Westland carriers were Gary Green, Robert Ingram, Kenneth Plant, Glen Wagner, Peter Renkos, Mike Rawson, Dan Dennis, Gary Loth, Denise Mesner, Kim Mesner, Tony Mesner, Eva Stein and Jay Pobursky.

Several parents also accompanied the group.

Civil Air Cadets Hold Exercise

More than fifty members from three squadrons of the Civil Air Patrol recently concluded a day-long field exercise west of Belleville.

A rough terrain, covered with bramble bushes, small woods, and abandoned roads was the site picked for the field problem. Six simulated emergency situations were established, each supervised by an adult CAP member, plus an operating base headquarters.

Overall operations were under the command of Major Alan R. Creighton, commander of the Wayne-Romulus Cadet Squadron, and Captain Michael Donovan, commander of the Cherry Hill Cadet Squadron. Teams of Cadets from both squadrons, coming from Belleville, Ann Arbor, Wayne, Westland, Inkster, Garden City, Flat Rock, Dearborn, and Romulus, participated.

The teams, ranging from six to eight Cadets each, were faced with such problems as a pair of motorists injured in an automobile accident, a pilot hanging from a tree by his parachute, and the sudden need to transmit messages visually to an overhead aircraft.

The teams were in constant contact with each other and with their base via short-wave radio. Both radios and adult communications personnel were provided by the Metro Emergency Services Squadron, an all communications senior Squadron. Radio operators included the Squadron commander, First Lieutenant Edward DeZomits.

Solving the various problems required the cadets, ranging in age from 13 to 18 years of age, to know first aid, radio communications, and Civil Air Patrol emergency services operations. Each team was evaluated on the effectiveness and speed with which they carried out each task; the winning team received ceramic medallions for each team member.

Receiving the awards were Cadet First Lieutenant Volker Trent, Cadet Airmen Daniels, Wills and Jablonski, Cadet recruits Watson and Katona (all of the Cherry Hill Squadron) and Cadet Captain Terry Markovich of the Wayne-Romulus Squadron.

The purpose of such exercises is to provide practical field work for the personnel involved, additional training for the cadets, and leadership experience for the cadet team leaders.

Winners will be notified by telephone or mail and will have their names published May 20.

Britannica, the oldest encyclopedia in continuous publication, was born 202 years ago in Edinburgh, Scotland at the dawn of the Industrial Revolution. The first edition contained a 40-page illustrated article on midwifery so explicit that it was judged offensive by the government and King George III ordered citizens to rip the pages from their sets. The engraving plates were destroyed.

Another illustrated article—a collector's item today—is a description of how Noah built the Ark.

Alcoholism Bureau Planned At PCHA

The new Alcoholism department being developed at PCHA's Annapolis Hospital in Wayne is progressing "beyond our expectations."

That was the substance of a report made to the PCHA Operating Committee last Thursday night by John Freysinger, administrator of Annapolis.

"We have our Medical Advisory committee appointed, there is much enthusiasm on our staff for the project, and we will now employ an Alcoholism Therapist," Freysinger stated.

This therapist will be responsible for organizing and conducting a program of individual and group therapy for alcoholic patients on both an inpatient and outpatient basis. He will work in cooperation with the Medical Social Worker to bring in social casework agencies to provide services to the patient and his family when necessary.

In other actions the Operating committee moved to recommend to the PCHA Board of Directors the for final decision following:

1) An increase in salary schedules for administrators of the four PCHA hospitals, also executive personnel in the Central office.

2) Approve for renewal the Emergency Room contract at Outer Drive Hospital.

3) Recommend discontinuance of Collection Dept. at Central office.

4) Approve a contract with DeAngelis Landscaping Company in the amount of $19,815, plus topsoil at $3.00 per cubic yard, for the landscaping of grounds at the new Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

5) Approve medical staff applications of Dr. Ibrahim Salama at Annapolis Hospital and Dr. Hyman Friedman at Seaway Hospital.

Senators To Join In Faust Tribute

Two more high ranking members of the Michigan Senate are to participate in a testimonial dinner honoring Senator William Faust on May 16.

Scheduled to appear are Senator John Bowman of Roseville and Senator John McCauley of Wyandotte. Both are Democrats and serve on the powerful Taxation and Veterans Affairs Committee.

Announcements of their participation came from the dinner's co-chairmen: William Borrusch and Russ Tuttle.

"Senator Bowman will serve as master of ceremonies, for this non-partisan event," Borrusch reported, "and Senator McCauley, a former chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, will introduce Senator Faust."

They will be joined in the testimonial program by Senate Minority Leader, George Fitzgerald and Senator Anthony Stamm.

Republican Chairman of the Education Committee.

Bowman, a colorful and controversial suburban legislator who opposes non-resident city income taxes, was President Pro-Tem of the Senate for two years. He has been a member of the Legislature for 16 years.

Senator McCauley, a disabled World War II Veteran, has been a personal friend of Senator Faust since both served on the County Board of Supervisors.

Tickets to the dinner, scheduled at the new Garrison House in Garden City, are available now, Tuttle said. They may be purchased from Friends of Faust Committee members, or by calling him at GA 5-2597; Mrs. William Ruggierello, PA 2-6292; or Mrs. Donald Dorsten, 697-1851.

EXAMINE YOURSELF

Give Yourself A "Spiritual Check-up"

The Apostle Paul urged us in II Corinthians 13:5 to "Examine yourself, whether ye BE in the faith..."

Jesus Christ startled His hearers by flatly stating that there would be many folk on that day of reckoning who would say to Him "Lord--Lord" and He would reply:

"I never knew you: depart from me, ye that work iniquity!"

(See Matthew 7:21-23)

Let's Make SURE we are READY!

Here's your "check-up-list". Give yourself a real test in the light of what the Holy Bible says about this subject and see where YOU stand. Here are ten questions. Answer them as best you can and then check up on yourself---the Scripture's own answers are listed at the end of these questions.

1. Can a person be sure he is ready for heaven?
2. Will good deeds help you gain admittance to heaven?
3. Aren't there many paths leading to heaven; if one is sincere, isn't one as good as another?
4. Is it important to believe in the resurrection of Christ?
5. Is Hell a real place where all lost sinners will spend eternity?
6. Are there some sins for which I will have to bear my own punishment?
7. Is it true that Christ is coming to earth again bodily, and that he may return momentarily?
8. Is there more than one mediator between you and God?
9. Does God love everyone in the world, even sinners?
10. Can't I settle the problem of my belief's some other time and if not, what must I do?

Please answer Yes or No

Here are God's answers to the above questions from the Holy Bible (Be sure to look up the references in your Bible which are not quoted here.) Taking any other philosophy is utter folly when our eternal destiny is at stake.

GOD'S ANSWERS FROM THE BIBLE

These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may KNOW that ye HAVE eternal life... I John 5:13

(see also Romans 8:1; 10: 9-10; John 5:24; 3:16)

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the Gift of God: Not of WORKS, lest any man should boast. Eph. 2:8-9 (see also Gal. 2:16; Titus 3:5; II Tim. 1:9; Rom. 4:5; James 2:10)

3. There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end thereof are the ways of death. Prov. 14:12

Jesus saith unto him, I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by me. John 14:6

And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be. Rev. 22:12

(see also I Thess. 4:16-17; Matt. 24:30-31, 42-44; James 5:8; Mark 14:62; John 14:1-3)

4. And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished. I Cor. 15:17-18

(see also I Cor. 15:1-4; I Thess. 4:14)

5. The wicked shall be turned into hell, and all the nations that forget God. Psalm 9:17

And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire. Rev. 20:15 (see also Rev. 20:11-14; Matt. 10:28; 13:40-42; 25:31-46; Mark 16:16; John 3:18; Luke 13:3, 23-28)

8. For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus; I Tim. 2:5 Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. Hebrews 4:16 (see also Matt. 11:28; Heb. 4:14-15; 10:20-22)

9. For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life. John 3:16

But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us. Romans 5:8

(see also Isaiah 1:18; Romans 5:7; I Tim. 1:15; II Peter 3:9; Luke 5:32; 19:10; Rom. 3:23; I Tim. 2:4)

10. Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation. II Cor. 6:2b

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near: Isaiah 55:6

"Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him..." Rev. 3:20

That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved... For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. Rom. 10:9-10

We need true repentance; (a Godly sorrow for our sins), not just "sorry" but "Sorry enough to quit": For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death. II Cor. 7:10

(see also Heb. 2:3; Prov. 27:1; Mark 8:36; John 1:12; Matt. 10:32; Acts 2:38; I John 1:9; Isaiah 1:18; Joshua 24:15)

Don't worry if -- you had some wrong answers to these questions. The important thing is to correct our errors as God shows them to us in The Book, and believe what He says about it. Why not drive in your stakes right now and settle this all-important matter with God. If you truly want the peace of heart that can come by the sure knowledge that your sins are forgiven and you are on your way to heaven, ask Christ now to come into your heart as your Lord and Saviour. The Bible says: "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus and shall believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." (Romans 10:9, 10)

Off-Woodward Playhouses Flourishing With Talent

By HOWARD ALLEN
Panax Amusement Critic

The off-Woodward houses are booming, with new productions by the Detroit Repertory Theatre and the Group Theatre, and an exciting new house on Connor, the Actors Studio Theatre, run by several stalwarts of the Hilberry Classic Theatre including David Regal, Earl D.A. Smith and Jeff Tambor, the latter probably the finest actor to come out of that Wayne State group.

Their opening effort,

"Woyzeck," might be considered a prosaic new wave effort, until one realizes the astonishing fact that it was written a century ago, back before the modern expressionists, back even before the modern realists when a well-made play full of cute devices was the typical fare.

"Woyzeck" is almost operatic in motif, telling the story of a soldier who murders his unfaithful mistress in what amounts to a mind-blowing orgy of psychotic emotions which date author Georg Buchner as a man fantastically ahead of his time.

Indeed, there is something faintly Orwellian about Woyzeck's world, an every carnival show and a mad doctor's grotesque nutritional experiments. Old hat-possibly, something out of a 1920 German movie. But for the 19th century, fantastic.

David Regal's direction is taught, Smith is a convincing Woyzeck and Tambor impresses as usual. The interpretation of the mistress, however, was strictly on the surface.

The Actors Studio Theatre is off to an impressive beginning-but the Detroit Repertory Theatre is going to fold if they persist in dredging up turkeys like "Rose," a so-called labor play which combines the worst elements of the Third Avenue Yiddish Theatre with the more distressing aspects of soap opera. Producer Bruce Millan has probably the worst track record in Detroit this year, following his grotesque Pirandello effort. And it's a shame because the theatre, the only integrated theater in Detroit which makes no bones about integration, just practices it in a quiet way, has a lot to offer.

Practically everything is used from the real lavatories which become the stage lavatories, to the entrance way which becomes a stage entrance way, to the refreshment area, which serves as the bar. The result is a greater degree of intimacy than is normally achieved.

business, and more often than not brought it off, although his Hickey occasionally exceeded the bounds of acceptable flamboyance. Don Konrad's cynical Slade was among the better interpretations.

Hilberry Announces Summer Festival

Two repertory seasons, upstairs and downstairs at the Hilberry, have been announced for the second Summer Theatre Festival at Wayne State University July 1 through August 15. The playbill, with emphasis on "new" plays, includes "Joe Egg," "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," "Tom Paine," "2 by Pinter" and a Black Theatre production, as well as a play for children -- "The Land of the Dragon."

The Hilberry repertory company will present Peter Nichols' long-run London and Broadway play, "Joe Egg," beginning July 15, and Robert Anderson's 1967 New York success, "You Know I Can't Hear You When the Water's Running," beginning July 22. The two will then be performed in repertory Wednesday through Saturday evenings. On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons, the company will present "The Land of the Dragon" for children beginning July 1 and running through August 7.

The first production of the University Theatre's new Black Theatre program will be one of three plays in the Studio Theatre's "mini-rep" season, beginning July 2. This play, not yet selected, will appear in repertory with Paul Foster's unconventional off-Broadway hit, "Tom Paine," and "2 by Pinter," consisting of the one-acts "The Collection" and "The Lover" by Harold Pinter, a author of "The Homecoming."

The Black Theatre program was initiated this spring with an acting class emphasizing the black experience and black plays. The summer production will be followed by additional classes and productions during the 1970-71 academic year.

Both theatres are air conditioned.

EMU Prepares Drama Workshop

YPSILANTI — Two high school workshops in theater will be offered at Eastern Michigan University this summer by the speech and dramatic arts department.

The beginning workshop, scheduled for June 21 through July 4, will offer introduction to Theatre, Improvisation, Rehearsal and Performance, Oral Interpretation and Play Production.

The advanced workshop, scheduled for August 2 through 15 will cover Theatre Aesthetics, Directing, Rehearsal and Performance, Technical Theatre and Scene Study.

Applications and information may be obtained by writing to Coordinator of University Conferences, Division of Field Services, Eastern Michigan University Ypsilanti, Mich. 48197. Total fee of $115 covers complete board, room and tuition costs.

But "Rose" isn't it. It relates the descent into paranoia of a girl from the labor-leftist movement of the thirties, starting out in the traditional labor movement mold, depicting two couples at such periods of stress as the Franco takeover of Spain, the Hitler-Stalin pact, the Wallace presidential movement and the McCarthy witch hunts.

By the final act, most of this is forgotten as author Emanuel Fried degenerates into the maudlin with dialogue too unbelievable to even repeat. Rose becomes more alienated from her moderate newspaperman husband, wishing instead for his sister's husband, a fiery labor leader. At last even he turns moderate, and Rose is left with her dreams of socially significant modern dances.

The Director was -- and --, -- and -- were featured in the cast. The names were omitted to protect the innocent. Let Millan take the blame.

The Group Theatre is becoming one of Detroit's more attractive houses. Their set is theater-in-the-round, but occasionally this isn't

New Council Should Accept Challenge

There has been a face-lift at the city hall in Wayne as a result of the recent Council elections. Resulting from the election Wayne now has three new council members and a new mayor.

Patrick Norton became the youngest mayor in Wayne's history with his election by his fellow council members last week. Dale Butler will replace Norton as mayor pro-tem.

Kenneth McKee and Kurt Heidmann are new faces on the council and Paul Lada is back following a two year absence. They join veterans Claude Howard and Ken McKay.

The so called "young look" which was discussed throughout the campaign seems to have become a reality. We feel that the new council has the potential and the ability to get the job done quickly and correctly.

Younger minds governing the city should bring about some changes. We feel that the new council is concerned about Wayne's development in certain major areas, such as Metro Place, and has the energy and the sense of commitment to follow through until the job is done.

The new council should prove that, despite the fact that the city is now 101 years old, there is still much to be done and many areas which must be developed in order to keep Wayne "a nice place to live."

We also feel that the citizens of Wayne will find that the next few years will show much change and growth within the city limits and that six square miles can be a lot to develop and maintain when programs which call for improvement are initiated.

Youth must have been the key since the younger candidates received high vote totals in the general election. The voters have spoken, now the young men they elected must accept the challenge.

Property Tax Under Fire

BY DON HOENSHELL

State legislators have started a double-barreled attack on the local property tax system in Michigan as "unjust and inequitable."

The development is the first major reaction to what lawmakers consider a simmering local tax rebellion.

Reps. Marvin R. Stempien (D-Livonia) and John Bennett (D-Redford) have sponsored separate proposals to re-write the local taxation section of the 1963 state constitution.

Rep. Jelt Sietsma (D-Grand Rapids), chairman of a special committee to investigate assessing practices, charges that enforcement of present laws would meet local revenue problems headily.

The constitution and subsequent state laws require all assessments of property to be at 50 per cent of true cash value, a level that Stempien sees as favoring business and industry over homeowners.

Sietsma said that "many local assessors are not complying with state law," adding:

"If they were all brought up to 50 per cent we would have the extra money we need for operating our schools and local government. As it is we have to look elsewhere..."

He said varying assessments distort the school aid formula and cites estimates that local governments are losing $160 million to $400 million in local tax revenues.

Other members of Sietsma's committee are Reps. James N. Callahan (D-Mt. Morris), Richard A. Young (D-Deerborn Heights), Russell H. Strange (R-Mt. Pleasant) and James N. Folks (R-Horton).

Stempien proposed a statewide referendum to erase the requirement for general uniformity at 50 per cent, requiring it only within certain classifications.

"For example, all residences would be assessed at the same rate -- any rate, such as 10 or 20 or 30 per cent," he said. "Business and industry could be assessed at 50 or 60 or 70 per cent."

Schools Need Money Sooner

LANSING--Rep. Marvin R. Stempien (R-Livonia) wants to give local school districts their share of state aid money when they need it most.

He sponsored a bill to give the schools 75 per cent of their state aid money in the first six months of the school year.

The remaining 25 per cent then would be spread over the following three months when local property tax revenues make the state payments less crucial.

State officials said it will also save districts the cost of issuing tax anticipation notes, or borrowing money at interest until the state and local sources cover the gap.

State school aid payments are now made on Aug. 1, Oct. 1, Dec. 1, Feb. 1, April 1 and June 1. In most cases, each payment is one-sixth of the district's allotment.

"Unfortunately, the expenses of local schools are frontloaded," he said. "Their greatest costs are at the beginning of the school year. This is when they need the state money the most."

"Borrowing costs the school district money and it costs the taxpayers money. This makes no sense when it would be just as easy for the state to make more substantial school aid payments in the first six months of the school year."

"This should have been done long ago."

Meanwhile the $1.22 state school aid package is still boxed in. House members ended a series of meetings around the state with school leaders last week.

House Speaker William A. Ryan (D-Detroit) said he expects feedback from the meetings this week and efforts will be made to take action on the bill.

A True Youth Movement

By Dick McKnight

If the outcome of the Wayne mayoral election is any indication, Western Wayne county is definitely in for a youthful recharging of its political batteries.

The Wayne city council unanimously elected Patrick Norton the new mayor of Wayne. The 35-year old Norton succeeds Kenneth McKay, another member of the council, whose image is more grandfatherly.

At the same time, Wayne voters picked Kenneth McKee, 30, and Rev. Kurt Heidemann, 42. Paul Lada, at 48, the fourth winner, has more gray hair than he has years.

The result was the latest episode in what is becoming a trend toward youthful office holders in western Wayne County.

Norton will hold the record for young mayors jointly with Westland Mayor Gene McKinney who is also 35. McKinney was only 34 when he was elected.

Many voters would be surprised to know that Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara is 43, since the new chief executive has a more youthful image.

In Inkster, voters must choose between 42-year old John Mulhern, a councilman, and 46-year old former NAACP leader Edward Bivens. If elected, Bivens would be the immediate area's oldest mayor.

Garden City Mayor Timothy Murphy is only in his early forties, even though he looks mature beyond his years because of his gray hair.

Perhaps we have forgotten, since John F. Kennedy was elected president in 1960, that a 40-year old man is still young by political standards. After all, President Nixon is 58, and if JFK were alive today he would be 52.

The inescapable conclusion to be drawn from the results in all these communities is that there is a new kind of power structure in western Wayne County.

The young, middle class people who moved into the new subdivisions of Westland, Garden

City and Livonia have finally come into their own. The native-born, homegrown politician is a thing of the past.

The young families who now compromise the political majority are looking for leaders cut in their own images, and they are proceeding to elect such leaders.

There is really no reason why older men and women do not seem to be holding the balance of power locally, except that there are so few of them today.

Smart politicians must know by now that it not only pays to be young, but to act young and to know how it feels to think young. A politician who thinks like a young family man has a fighting chance for election.

It seems only appropriate that the migration of young families that brought the problems of suburbia to western Wayne County should now find among its number, the leaders to solve those problems.

Lift Up Your Head

Racism Can Be Cured

By Rosemary Wolock

Some people feel it is wrong to frame issues in black and white, that to do so only influences racial hatreds and fears and serves no good purpose.

I only wish the American people had reached the point of maturity where the color of a person's skin, his religion or national origin did not matter. Unfortunately these things do matter, very much, today.

To pretend these problems do not exist won't make them go away. Just as ignoring a disease can lead to serious illness, ignoring this problem long enough has already led to serious consequences for everyone.

It would be nice to put race problems out of my mind. But black people can't do that; they have to live with them every day. And whites only ignore them until the "problem" touches them -- until a black family moves in on the block, for example.

I wish these people who tell me to ignore race would tell that to the neighbors of that black family.

The neighbors don't though. The first chance they get, all the whites on the block move out and the black family who wanted to live in an integrated setting is back in the ghetto again.

The same thing is true when it comes to schools. As soon as the enrollment of Negro students in a school reaches a certain level, the white parents begin taking their children out -- sending them to private schools, moving out of the neighborhood, lying to get their children in other districts.

I wish those people who tell me to ignore race would tell that to the parents of these school-children.

One thing that people tend to forget is that newspapers can only reflect what is happening in their communities. Just as it isn't pleasant to read about racism or poverty or death, so it isn't pleasant to write about them.

Rest assured that when these things cease to exist, newspapers will stop reporting about them.

Now is not the time for ignoring this problem. Now is the time rather to come to grips with it. Racism will continue to exist until men not only legislate it out of existence but also root it out of their hearts.

Perhaps instead of blaming the media for the problems of today, these armchair critics ought to consider what they could do to wipe out racism. That would be beneficial indeed.

There's A Better Way

By Dann Barkume

Whatever happened to respect?

After attending a meeting in Inkster last week, I found a little message against the local police, department sitting on my windshield. Of course it was critical and threatening and the word usage left much to be desired.

Anybody can sit back and rush in with a circular when nobody's looking when they have a beef against someone or something; but it takes a lot more to stand up in person and find out what the trouble is and try and settle those differences, face to face.

Instead of trying to get back at someone as the individuals with the little love note did, why not stand up and voice your opinion. It may take a little more fortitude but you would be surprised to see that sometimes people listen and sometimes you get something done.

Cops aren't perfect and a good one admits that he goes off every now and again. They are just like any other person and nobody possesses total infallibility.

Maybe the incident questioned by that message designed to make someone blush wasn't all up to par, maybe the men in blue made a mistake then again maybe not.

If they were wrong there are channels to go through to make sure that it won't happen again. You don't get anything done by sneaking behind someone's back.

Constructive criticism is a tool which all of us use to better ourselves. Name calling only leads to misunderstanding and hurt pride and feelings. It is about as helpful as prickly heat in the summertime.

Because a man wears a blue uniform with a badge pinned to his shirt does not mean he should be above criticism, but that shirt and badge does not make him the object of needless ridicule.

It goes both ways.

Four letter words never hurt anybody physically, but they never made anybody feel good either. They are totally needless. Anyone who resorts to such practices because they feel they didn't get a fair shake is needless too.

There really isn't much sense to the whole thing. By sneaking around trying to get a message across, nothing is accomplished. By standing up and letting someone else know how you feel, you just might get a little action.

We can all learn something from that little incident last week. We can all sit back and think about how we handle ourselves when we are in similar situations.

Are we the only ones who try and undermine someone or are we among those who stand up and let others know how they feel when they think something should be said.

Milliken Warns Suburbs

know about themselves before they can expect to understand the inner city and they won't know about themselves until they start talking to each other.

"Suburban walls are invisible, but they are nonetheless powerful," Milliken said. "But now the suburbs are finding out that a line on the map provides no permanent protection from the threat of drugs, crime and environmental decay."
Drug abuse, he said, has only become a national scandal since its movement from the ghettos into the suburbs.

Parents, he said, are near panic at the thought that the big city problems are crossing the color line and threaten the life of isolation in the suburbs.

"People must talk about them (problems), try to solve them, because they realize, if they don't, they may find these problems under their own roofs," Milliken said.

He said he also recognizes the strengths of the suburbs, a generally excellent education system, people who have worked hard to build their homes and attain their station in life, and who support their schools and governments.

"And the suburbs contain thousands of people who are willing to give their time and energy to the solution of their problems," Milliken said.

The answers, he said, lie in ending "hatred and distrust," in dissolving conflicts between the blacks and whites, between labor and management, between the young and the old.

"Unless we replace this hatred with tolerance and understanding, we will not survive as a nation," Milliken said.

STEP 3 — Use level to check plumb of opening.

STEP 4 — Here's how floor plate, wall stud look.

STEP 7 — Units should be thoroughly primed.

STEP 8 — Place first window in rough opening.

STEP 9 — Use corrugated fasteners to join units.

Old Porch Can Become Useful Family Room

A dusty, barren porch can become a useful family room, such as one you may have admired in a friend's home or in pictures in a magazine.

Once your porch is enclosed, you'll be able to enjoy it many more months each year. You'll enjoy the fresh air and cool summer breezes, yet you'll be able — at a moment's notice — close all the windows to give you full protection against rain and high winds.

If you have an open porch you'd like to consider closing in, here are some helpful hints:

1. Plan a layout to enclose the porch. A lumber dealer can help select a combination of stock sizes that will best fit existing openings.

2. Frame a rough opening within the existing openings to fit exactly the assembled window units. Because of the wide range of window sizes and combinations, only a small amount of filling in at the ends and above and below the new rough openings will be required, not more than a few inches in most cases.

3. Use a level to check any variation from plumb in walls, floors or top. Top, sides and sill plate of new rough openings should be absolutely plumb and square. Recheck measurements to make sure new rough openings will fit.

4. Cut 2 x 4's or other framing lumber for use as plates and studs in framing rough opening. Be sure to use only straight pieces. Your rough opening should be built 1/4-inch larger all around than the over-all unit dimensions. The back of the wall stud must be cut to fit irregularities in masonry and shimmed where necessary to keep it straight and plumb.

5. Use masonry nails or lead screw anchors to fasten framing to stone, brick or concrete. Be sure to shim or block wherever necessary to keep everything plumb and square as you go along.

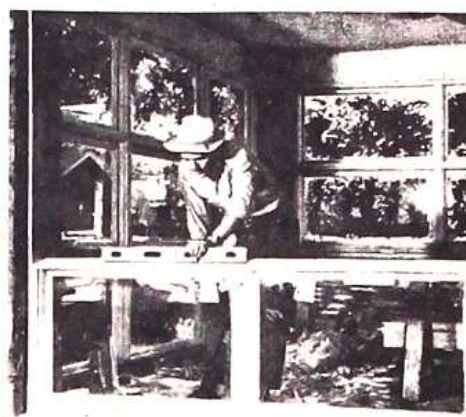

6. Complete window units come packaged from lumber dealers. They can be installed in three positions — inswinging hopper, outswinging awning or stationary. This example will show installation of a bottom row hopper and two top rows awning.

7. Units should be thoroughly paint primed before installation, but be careful to keep the paint off weatherstripping and hinge side channels. Be sure to lap paint slightly on the glass when painting the sash. Chemically treated lumber for framing and casings also is recommended.

8. The first window unit is placed in the rough — and partially toe-nailed — opening. Notice that it is only partially toe-nailed in order to allow for later (Continued on Page 7)

STEP 10 — Check bottom row for plumb before continuing.

STEP 11 — Second row of units stack on top of first.

Public Hearing Set On Train Service

People distressed by the proposed elimination of nearly all Penn Central Railroad passenger service in Michigan will have a chance to do something about it on Wednesday, April 13.

Congressman Marvin L. Esch, representing Michigan's Second Congressional district, has announced that a public hearing on the proposal will be held by the Interstate Commerce Commission at 9:30 a.m. at the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries Research Laboratory, 1451 Green Rd., Ann Arbor.

"This is the time to speak out," Esch says. "This is the time when the power of the individual citizen to influence our rail transportation system is at its greatest. While public opinion always counts, it counts the most when specifically sought by a government agency.

"The ICC has the power to permit Penn Central to discontinue its trains as proposed, or to force the railroad to keep its trains running," Esch continued. "The Commission could also decide that Penn Central must keep certain trains running while allowing the company to drop others."

Workers Honored

Thirty one Wayne County Road commission employees were honored recently for more than six million miles of accident free driving in Commission vehicles.

Area residents who were honored include:

Joseph Bauman Jr. of 36256 Oakwood Lane, Wayne, Clarence Hoagland of 24128 Middlebelt in New Boston, William Johnson of 35825 Wick Road in Romulus Township, Peter Tonkovitch of 11429 Southworth, Plymouth and Albert Van Meer of 29055 Denning in New Boston.

All of the above received awards for 20 years of service without an accident.

Penn Central has proposed that it be permitted to discontinue all its long-distance passenger service west of Buffalo, N.Y. and Harrisburg, Pa. If approved, the only Penn Central passenger service remaining in Michigan would be a commuter train operating between Ann Arbor and Detroit. Its route is just south of Michigan Ave. through Canton Township and the cities of Wayne and Inkster.

"The Ann Arbor hearing on May 13 is the only one scheduled in our district," Esch explains. "Additional hearings, are scheduled in Detroit and Toledo on Thursday, May 14."

Esch said the Penn Central hearings have been termed the most complex and compact ones in the history of the commission.

As matters stand now, the ICC has instructed Penn Central to keep its trains running until August 15. What happens after that depends upon the ICC, Esch says. What the Commission determines will be based, in part, on what it learns from the public in the hearings, including the one in Ann Arbor.

alignment.

9. Corrugated fasteners provide the easiest method of joining window units together in building up the windows. Space fasteners about eight inches apart both from the inside and outside for sturdy, rigid structure. Trim will hide the fasteners.

10. Check the bottom row for plumb and square before proceeding further. In case there is a slight slope to the sill plate, you can shim the bottom row of windows at one end.

11. The second row of windows stacks easily on top of the first. Once more, units are toe-nailed to wall members. As before, corrugated fasteners are best to join the window units to each other. Corners of units should meet exactly.

12. The third and final row of windows is stacked up in the opening - just like building blocks. Process of toe-nailing units to the wall studs and joining together with corrugated fasteners continues.

13. The first wall of the porch has been completed. With the six units used now in place, windows are ready to be trimmed out. Window sections in other porch walls are built in the same manner.

14. Exterior casings should be shaped to provide a snug fit between window units and original porch at the sides and top. The openings below the sill plate caused by floor slope or irregularities should be closed with a specially fitted apron or casing.

15. Put on the other exterior trim strips. Simple batten strips or narrow casings are used to cover all joints where window units come together. Similar strips are used inside. Corrugated fasteners and frame corners are neatly trimmed out of sight.

16. Do a thorough caulking job and carefully seal all remaining cracks. Now the job is ready for final painting, but be sure to observe the precautions mentioned in paragraph 7.

17. A hopper lock goes on the top roll of inswinging sash. Operation and installation is simple. New awning lock is for outswinging sash only. Curved deflection bar brings corners of sash in tightly.

18. Operator arm moves through the housing and attaches to deflection bar on sash. The arm is hinged to permit three open positions without extending into the room. The screen is bridged over the housing.

19. An underscreen sash operator is available for use on awning vent sash as optional equipment.

Do Want Ads work?

Do bankers like money?

The answer to both questions is an emphatic "yes!"

Bankers like money...it's the very base upon which their daily activities are centered, helping people from all walks of life and keeping our economy on the move.

And Want Ads work...also helping people from all walks of life...bringing buyer and seller together, and fulfilling many needs in our day-to-day existence.

If you have never used a Want Ad, you're missing one of the easiest of all "money-making" opportunities available to you.

Reader Issues Complaint About Annapolis Traffic

TO THE EDITOR:

I am sure my feelings, though singularly expressed, represent all of the residents and nearby neighbors of Annapolis St. in Wayne. First of all, the name should be changed to the more appropriately and descriptively "Blood Boulevard".

I have been a taxpayer on this street for the past 10 years. Now, my family and I wonder if we will be alive if we continue to make our home here. I am beginning to believe that it is safer on 12th St. in Detroit. The tragedy there can be no worse than the traffic here.

Reader Shows Resentment Over Commentary

TO THE EDITOR:

Re: Your April 8, 1970 Garden City issue highlighting the Anti-Parochial Fight Opening in Garden City.

Like some fictional character from the old West Dr. Kenneth Carman, championing the cause of prejudice under the guise of citizen's rights, with the mighty flourish and a wave of a gold pen signed the first petition for a referendum vote on the question of Parochialism by the people of Michigan. And the good old Guardian-Review headlined this effort by Doctor Carman to thwart the will of the legislature by attempting to place the question of Parochialism on the ballot. Amen.

On the principle of equal time and in the interest of fairness, I submit this letter.

Frankly, I resent this so called "expert" on Parochialism foisting his illogical opinions on the general public under the banner of Facts. Let us unmask his efforts and present them for what they truly are; an attempt to continue a tax-tuition inequity that has existed for parents of parochial school children for longer than any of us can remember. And his strategy? By appealing to the pocketbook of the vast majority of non-catholics to vote on a question that, in its simplest form, would read:

"Do you wish to pay additional taxes to allow children to attend non-public schools?" And his reason? One can only presume from his actions.

The Doctor's consuming dedication in opposition to Parochialism was first introduced under the banner of unconstitutionality. I'll drink to that. It seems to me we ought to act according to the rules and if the Constitution says no, then it should be no. But alas! The Constitution doesn't say no. The Constitution says, and I quote from Amendment number one:

"Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, of prohibiting the free exercise thereof;...."

That is plain, understandable, simple language written by honest to God men who wanted no misunderstanding. It means that if you want to be a Buddhist or a Catholic school, Methodist, or whatever, and you want your children to be educated in a Buddhist school, or a Catholic school, or a Methodist school, or whatever, Congress will make no law prohibiting you from doing so. If laws are so constructed that they allow you to exercise the freedom of your religious choice then they are constitutional.

Now, suddenly, the banner cry of the Anti-Parochialism force, C.A.P. by name (Council Against Parochialism), is that they are "against Parochialism because revenues for public schools were not enough to support them and therefore the revenues couldn't support non-public schools." No more unconstitutionality mentioned. Could it be because some of the other states of the union have adopted Parochialism laws recently? Could be.

Their latest reasoning has me more puzzled than ever. The logic of it escapes me completely. Compare it to a welfare system whose funds are doled out thru the public school system. If hungry children agree to eat at the more expensive public school trough they will be fed free of charge; but if they prefer to eat at a parochial school trough they can go hungry because there isn't enough money to feed even those who eat the public school trough. Come now, C.A.P.; this is an insult to our intelligence.

Illogical as their position is I am in sympathy if the public school revenues are inadequate to provide a good education for the public school student. I pledge my support, as I have honestly done in the past, to any reasonable millage vote for a tax increase to provide children with a good education. In all candor, however, I do not condone the spending in excess of a million dollars for the construction of an auditorium, not to mention the hundreds of thousands of dollars that will be paid in interest, and maintenance cost. A Performing Arts Center is fine if you can afford it. I believe it to be a luxury Garden City taxpayers cannot afford. But then, the Garden City Board of Education, of which Dr. Carman is a member, did not request a referendum vote by the people of Garden City on this matter.

And so, the reason for this Anti-Parochialism drive? Judge for yourself. My personal judgment is that it is an appeal to prejudice and the time is long since past for us to put an end to that. Let our City be the mausoleum for prejudice whatever its form may be. And may our citizens be the pallbearers.

Respectfully,
G.P. Morrissy, C.P.A.

Reader Urges Board To Stop Harassment

TO THE EDITOR:

The innuendos and rank opinions (not facts) concerning the Inkster High School on the front page of the Inkster Ledger Star, April 22, 1970 issue are a repeat of an old racist record which really gets monotonous.

What are you trying to do? Use the Inkster Ledger Star's racist influence to weight the election?

The Detroit News is actually begging for circulation customers now. The reason, its most distasteful racist stance to really thinking people.

RUTH ANTHONY
Inkster

In the last seven days, I have seen my husband's car wrecked while he was driving it one block from our home. This was done by a speeding, hit and run, driver. My neighbor's dog was hit so hard it was knocked nearly to the porch of another neighbor. This also was done by a speeding driver.

Two days later, another dog met its death when it was splattered unbelievably right in front of its owner. We know dogs shouldn't have been in the street, but we feel that if the drivers had their cars within the speed limit and under control this could have been avoided, or at least less injurious. We are just thankful it wasn't our children.

But this all seems minor compared to what we witnessed Monday night. A speeder and I do mean speeder, regardless of what the driver says - lost control of his dune buggy, crossing a lawn, striking and setting on fire a home, nearly costing the lives of eight members of the family.

Like I said, 10 years have been bad, but one week has been awful. I am not putting down the Wayne Police Department. They do a wonderful job over here ticketing these reckless, careless, irresponsible drivers.

We realize other areas need their supervision, so therefore they cannot spend 24 hours per day on our street. But, we homeowners can. If necessary, we can take shifts around the clock and make citizens arrests at the rate of 10 per hour.

We intend to take all action possible to prove that Annapolis Street is not Annapolis Speedway or Drag Strip. We intend to use all means available even if it means a "sit-in" right in the middle of the street.

In seven weeks, school will be out for the summer. We can only hope and pray all of our children will be here for the fall term. The loss of the pets hurt. The damage to the cars is costly. The fire to the home was "night-marish."

But the loss of a child is unbearable. Won't you "unthinking" motorists think of this the next time you drive down my street? "Better Be Safe Than Sorry!"

Victimized Family Thanks Those Who Helped

TO THE EDITOR:

We would like to express our deepest gratitude to the two men, Mr. Nelson of Biddle St. in Wayne and Mr. Stiles of Newberry in Wayne who unhesitatingly ran into our house as it was burning and helped rescue our six children, on the night of April 21. By their actions a real tragedy was avoided.

Also at this time we wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all the many friends and other members of the community who have helped in many ways. We thank Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Higgs for taking our family in for the rest of the night and we are also grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Fanning for offering us a house to live in on Elm St. in Wayne.

Above all we wish to thank the Wayne Fire Department for their on the spot alertness in putting the fire out.

God bless everyone.

GC Supt. Comments On Guardian Award

TO THE EDITOR:

I note with great pleasure that the Guardian-Review has been awarded its second consecutive Michigan Education Association School Bell award for outstanding continuous coverage of school news during 1969-70.

It is interesting to note that you are one of only 15 weekly newspapers in the entire state to be so honored.

I wish to add my personal congratulations and thank you for the outstanding job you have consistently performed in behalf of children and the cause of education over the years.

Women's Club Objects To Ledger-Star Story

TO THE EDITOR:

The members of the Westwood Hills Women's Club at their regular meeting April 9, 1970 were unanimous in their desire to express their objection to the article reporting the Inkster primary indicating racism, which we do not believe is to the best interest of our community.

We would appreciate your cooperation in eliminating the racism items.

Garden City Woman Police Work

TO THE EDITOR:

On April 2 my husband was rushed to Wayne County General Hospital, from Ford and Venoy Roads with a serious heart attack.

On that day we had one of our worst days all winter, heavy blowing snow and very bad driving conditions. I was driving to the hospital and the car stalled all the way from Middlebelt to Henry Ruff Road so I turned around and drove to the police station.

By this time I was hysterical. Lt. Bert Higgins (One of Garden City's finest policeman and citizens) was on duty. He calmed me down and talked to me then had Patrolman Larry Stewart (who had made the report on my husband) drive me to the hospital.

He is a very nice young man and I'm sure a very fine policeman. I believe in giving credit where credit is due and I say Garden City should be proud to have men like this on our police force.
